Explosion Wrecks British Quarters

A QUEEN HEADS FOR SCRAP HEAP

ONE-TIME QUEEN OF THE NORTH ATLANTIC, the liner Normandie is shown at her berth in Brooklyn, N. Y., just after it was announced that she would be broken up for scrap. Since she burned and sank at her pier in New York City in 1942, the government has spent an estimated $11,000,000 in salvage and maintenance. Shipping men state that it will probably cost more to scrap her than the scrap will be worth. (International)

AT LEAST TEN DEAD IN BLAST AT JERUSALEM

Jewish Underground Blamed For Blowing Up King David Hotel

JERUSALEM, July 22 — Land mines apparently planted in the basement of King David Hotel which houses British military headquarters exploded today, killing at least 10 persons and wounding 140, 40 of them seriously.

The Jewish underground organization, Hagana, was blamed for the blast and police immediately took into custody two Jewish youths and a young Jewish girl as suspects.

The King David hotel looked as though it had been hit by an earthquake when this correspondent entered the lobby a few minutes after the explosion. I was just outside the big, modern hotel, investigating a previous smaller blast, when the mines went off with a tremendous roar, wrecking one wing of the hotel and the adjacent YMCA building.

The British military immediately imposed a stringent curfew on all of Jerusalem and streets were cleared of all traffic and pedestrians within half an hour after the blast. Troops took up positions on rooftops, particularly in Jewish areas.

All traffic was blocked and several hundred persons were rounded up for interrogation.

Within an hour after the explosion the holy city looked like a ghost town with only a few civilians on the barren streets. Every few hundred yards civilians were halted for identification.

Authoritative Jewish quarters expressed pessimism over the Hagana blow and said that the country may be plunged into further disorder.

An immediate curfew was ordered until further notice. The powerful explosion was believed caused by a bomb or bombs planted by the Hagana Jewish sect. (Continued on Page Two)

GEORGE WHITE CHARGED WITH KILLING COUPLE

SAN DIEGO, Calif., July 22 — George White, 56, Broadway and Hollywood showman whose "Scandals" started many a chortle on the ladder to success, will be arraigned today on negligent homicide and hit-run charges arising from the deaths of a couple on their wedding day.

The handsome, white-haired bachelor was arrested by the California highway patrol yesterday and released from jail on $2,000 bail after his expensive sedan allegedly ran down Claude McLester Lee, 42, Santa Ana, Calif., and his 18-year-old bride.

Witnesses said the couple, married Saturday in Tijuana, Mex., were struck as they crossed the highway at Solana Beach, 30 miles north of here, a few hours after their wedding.

Bakers forgot strike. LONDON, July 22 — Bread rationing was a reality in Britain today and bakers indicated they would cooperate with the government and forego their threatened strike against the program.

RHEABEL Mendelsohn, above, 24-year-old statistician, is one of five employees dismissed from their jobs at the Army's Aberdeen Proving Ground in Aberdeen, Md. Dismissal of Miss Mendelsohn and four male workers, was invoked under a federal statute which forbids government employment of anyone who is a member of the Nazi, Fascist or Communist parties, or who advocates the overthrow of the U. S. government, Army authorities stated.

GOP MAY ASK ANOTHER PROBE

Further Investigation Of Pearl Harbor Disaster Sought By Solons

WASHINGTON, July 22 — Two Republican members of the Pearl Harbor committee today proposed another inquiry when and if the GOP gains control of congress.

Sens. Homer Ferguson, R., Mich., and Owen Brewster, R., Me., said the diplomatic negotiations which preceded the Dec. 7, 1941, disaster still need further exploration.

Another investigation would seem to contravene Republican party policy as laid down in the platform adopted by the last national convention in 1944. It declared flatly that "we want no more Pearl Harbor reports."

Nevertheless, Ferguson and Brewster laid the groundwork for a future Republican investigation in a minority report they filed with congress late Saturday.

"The whole question of whether or not it would have been possible to avoid war by proper diplomatic action and thus avert the Pearl Harbor tragedy was left largely unexplored," they said.

ROOSEVELT HEADS PARTY. SACRAMENTO, Calif., July 22 — James Roosevelt, oldest and most politically active of the late president's four sons, today assumed leadership of the California Democratic party. A Southern California Democratic caucus yesterday endorsed Roosevelt as state chairman of the Democratic central committee by a 200 to 107 vote.

Other Legislation May Compete With Controls On Rents In Assembly

COLUMBUS, July 22—Call of the third special session of the 96th General Assembly to enact stop-gap rent controls appeared more likely to turn tonight into a scrap for other legislation.

Statehouse observers believed that the Ohio legislature, summoned to meet at 8 p. m. to pass on emergency rent control legislation, will bring up old grudges.

A feud between urban and rural legislators may be kindled again as an outgrowth of the "sleeper" provision included in the $5,000,000 additional allotment to local governments by the second special session two weeks ago.

Gov. Frank J. Lausche said he signed the measure only because it did provide additional funds to all cities. Rural solons found that larger cities received a larger share of the $5,000,000 than had been anticipated because of the "sleeper."

An effort may be made to reconsider the local governments monies measure as an appeasement gesture to soften rural delegates for rent control consideration. Rural representatives have no need for rent controls.

At Toledo, Sen. Raymond E. Hildebrand said that if the session enacts rent control legislation that provides for a 15 percent increase on rentals, he would demand an increase in old age benefits.

Hildebrand's proposal will be made of the 15 percent increase (Continued on Page Two)

SOLONS FACING LONGER SESSION

Barkley Says Congress Will Not Be Able To Quit Next Week

WASHINGTON, July 22—Senate Democratic Leader Alben W. Barkley, Ky., said after a conference with President Truman today that congress would not be able to adjourn until next week despite its hopes to wind up by Saturday.

"I'm afraid we will have to go into the middle of next week," Barkley said.

He explained that the senate still had before it such matters as railroad retirement legislation, the terminal leave pay bill and the international aviation treaty as well as the new OPA bill.

Barkley went to the White House with Sen. Kenneth D. McKellar, D., Tenn., president pro tem of the senate; Speaker Sam Rayburn, D., Tex., and Rep. John W. McCormack, D., Mass., house majority leader, for their usual Monday morning conference with the President.

On Capitol Hill, where the calendars of both the house and senate are loaded with important controversial legislation, party leaders were talking about adjournment sometime between August 1 and 4.

At present, the intention of the Democratic leadership is to adjourn congress sine die—that is, (Continued on Page Two)

CLINE TRIES TO GET TOLEDOAN FREED BY COURT

BAD NAUHEIM, July 22—Capt. Joseph A. Robertson Toledo, O., tried unsuccessfully today to have the case charging him with neglect of duty at the Lichfield camp dismissed.

Capt. Guy Cline, Ashville, O., his attorney, claimed that Robertson's previous testimony in two other cases made Robertson immune from prosecution.

Robertson is the fourth of six Lichfield officers to come to trial. He was the guardhouse company commander at the camp and was charged with aiding in the mistreatment of American prisoners.

Army headquarters announced today that the trial of Maj. Richard Lobuono, former Lichfield provost marshal, has been postponed to Aug. 1.

Trial of Maj. Herbert Blum, who has been in the hospital at Frankfurt, has been postponed indefinitely.

OSU TRUSTEES OKAY LARKINS AS SPORTS HEAD. COLUMBUS, July 22—The Ohio State University board of trustees today unanimously approved the appointment of Richard C. Larkins as director of athletics and physical education.

The appointment becomes effective July 1, 1947. Larkins was endorsed July 5 by the athletic board to succeed L. W. St. John, who must retire on July 1, 1947, after he becomes 70 years of age next November.

The former Ohio State griddier is 37 years old, married and the father of a boy and girl.

Larkins was born in East Liverpool, and attended the university from 1927 to 1931, during which time he was a tackle and end on the varsity football team and a basketball player.

PRESIDENT ONE OF 260 KILLED IN FIGHTING

Hanging Of Villarroel Climax Of Bloody Four-Day Violence Wave

STUDENTS, WORKERS LEAD

No Politicians Or Industry Leaders In New Setup; Elections Planned

LA PAZ, Bolivia, July 22—A regime of liberals, workers and students established a provisional government after a bloody four-day revolution in which an estimated 260 persons were killed, including President Gualberto Villarroel who was shot, hurled from a balcony and his battered body strung up on a lamp post.

Estimates of wounded ranged as high as 520.

La Paz was quiet today under the strong control of the youthful revolutionary group which proclaimed its democratic aspirations and announced general elections would be called as soon as possible.

Many bodies of those killed in the bloody street fighting still lay in the streets and plazas where they fell.

It was believed the provinces would support the new government although fighting between peasants and the constabulary was reported at Cumbre.

Newspapers, which have not appeared for four days, were due to be issued today. The newspapers Ultima Hora and La Razon which had been seized by the government were to be returned formally to their proprietors.

For the first time in the history of recent Bolivian revolutions no censorship was established for foreign correspondents.

A small edition of La Razon was hastily issued, declaring: "Once more the students have reconquered for the Bolivian people their widest liberties."

Another headline said: "The tyranny and massacre of (Continued on Page Two)"

ALL AMERICANS IN DANGER ZONE REPORTED SAFE

WASHINGTON, July 22—Late reports to the state department said today that all Americans were safe in revolt-torn Bolivia, and that the embassy staff had not been molested.

State department officials declined comment on the Bolivian situation pending receipt of more complete information on the revolutionary movement.

Most quarters said it was too early to guess whether the coup which ousted Bolivian president Gualberto Villarroel would start the country on the way to democracy.

Bolivia's turbulent background convinced many that the student, teacher and labor groups which staged the successful revolution would encounter difficulty in attempting to give Bolivia its first peaceful, popular government in many years.

Bolivian Ambassador Victor Andrade, who is expected to resign as a result of the bloody coup, would make no comment on the situation. He said he had received no official dispatches about it.

JAPS TO GET LOOK AT PEACETIME SUPERFORTS

TOKYO, July 22—Thirty B-29 Superfortresses based on Guam and Okinawa will roar low over 11 razed Japanese cities—including Hiroshima and Nagasaki—on Army Air Force day August 1 in what the Pacific air command described today as a "peace mission."

Officials said the exhibition was intended to give Japanese a chance to view without fear the great bombers which a year ago brought death and destruction to their cities.

On August 1, 1945, Army Air Force planes made 351 sorties against objectives in the Japanese homeland and occupied areas—the largest B-29 combat for a single day.

Mme. Sun Sees U.S.-Red War Over China Affairs

SHANGHAI, July 22—Madame Sun Yat-sen, widow of the founder of the Chinese republic, said today that "reactionaries" in America and China were working to promote a war between Russia and the United States over China's internal affairs.

CHIANG FORCES BATTLE REDS

Generalissimo Believed To Have Ordered New All-Out Drive On Communists

NANKING, July 22 — Heavy fighting reported along Communist-held rail lines in north China indicated today that Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek—despising of peace efforts—had ordered an all-out offensive to drive Communists from their strategic strongholds into the remote western mountains.

Communist sources admitted the loss of "many strategic towns"—nine of them along the important Tsinan-Tsingtao railway—and said nationalist troops were pushing northward along a 150-mile front paralleling the Yangtze river.

A major battle appeared to be shaping up in north Kiangs province. Communists reported a new government offensive there which they said was designed to isolate Red troops in a small area north of the Nanking-Shanghai railroad.

Nationalist quarters said 120,000 Communists in north Kiangs were "stepping up" their offensive against Luoh and Yangchow.

The official Chinese Central news agency reported large-scale fighting in the area and said Communists wanted the two cities to use as springboards for attacks against Shanghai and Nanking.

Communists said also that government troops were concentrating planes and tanks for their northward drive and that "17 armies" had captured two cities northeast of Nanking, were besieging Jukao, 70 miles to the north and "threatening" Tienchang and Kaoyu.

TWO DOCTORS BELIEVED DROWNED IN SENECA LAKE

CAMBRIDGE, July 22—Police continued to drag Seneca lake, 16 miles southwest of here, in search of the bodies of two Canton physicians, who were believed to have been drowned in a storm Saturday night.

An overturned boat hired to Dr. Maxwell S. Kaplan, 46, and Dr. Merle J. Jones, 30, was found yesterday on the lake. The doctors' automobile was still parked on the shore, according to Sheriff Wilmer O. Olivier of Guernsey county.

By United Press. The nation's housewives were praised today for helping to keep prices down, as the nation entered its fourth week without price controls.

Rep. Frances P. Bolton (R., O.) said that by refusing to pay sky high prices, American women were helping to force prices down.

"Now we are getting reports that prices of butter, poultry and steers are dropping after first skyrocketing with the end of OPA," she said. "That's a tribute to the American housewife and her refusal to pay exorbitant prices."

Indications were that the OPA would be revived this week as President Truman was reported to have signified he would sign "with reluctance" the compromise bill agreed upon by senate and house conferees.

The new bill, which must be approved by both houses, would restore price and rent controls for another year but would postpone replacement of ceilings on meats, poultry, dairy products and grains until Aug. 20. A special three-man

TRUMAN TO HAVE NEW OPA BILL ANALYZED NOW

Complicated Measure Faces

BACKERS URGE APPROVAL

President Fails To State
Whether He Will Approve
Newest Measure

WASHINGTON, July 22—President Truman told his congressional big four today that he was having the compromise OPA bill analyzed to see if he could sign it as a satisfactory measure to prevent runaway inflation.

Senate Democratic Leader Alben W. Barkley, Ky., expressed hope after the big four meeting with Mr. Truman that the President would sign the measure upon which senate-house conferees reached agreement Saturday night.

Asked whether Mr. Truman had indicated his intention, Barkley replied only that he "hoped" the bill would be signed.

"We didn't ask him whether he would sign it and he did not say," Barkley said, "but he is having it analyzed now in advance of getting it."

Accompanying Barkley to the White House conference were Senate President Kenneth McKellar, D. Tenn., House Speaker Sam Rayburn, D. Tex., and House Democratic Leader John W. McCormack, Mass.

The congressional leaders felt that the senate-house conference had worked out a workable anti-inflation program.

They hoped Mr. Truman would sign the compromise measure—if and when the senate and house approve it—on an "it's this or nothing basis."

If President Truman should veto the bill, the congressional leaders had virtually no hope that any other price legislation could be passed at this session.

The complicated compromise on future price controls still must be approved by both the senate and house, and there were indications of some trouble ahead. Even the conferees who wrote it were not sure of the meaning of every detail. They meet later today to clarify language in the measure, particularly with reference to the respective powers of the secretary of agriculture and the proposed three-man decontrol board.

Mme. Sun Sees U.S.-Red War Over China Affairs

SHANGHAI, July 22—Madame Sun Yat-Sen, widow of the founder of the Chinese republic, said today that "reactionaries" in America and China were working to promote a war between Russia and the United States over China's internal affairs.

Breaking a two-year silence on Chinese politics, Dr. Sun's widow, who is one of the famous Soong sisters, said in an attack on her brother-in-law's government that the presence of American troops in China was not aiding the cause of peace. There would be no spreading civil war in China, she said, if the United States made it clear that munitions and military assistance will not be supplied.

Such military assistance, she said, should be offered only to "a government which will belong to the Chinese people." Madame Sun said the "tutelage" of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's Kuomintang government was "over" and that a coalition government should be formed immediately on a broad democratic basis of representation.

"China," she said, "is threatened by a civil war into which reactionaries hope to draw America—thus involving the whole world." The purpose of such a war, she declared, would be to crush Communism in China.

"Such a civil war—though undeclared—already has begun," she added. Madame Sun said a coalition government should be formed immediately on a broad democratic basis of representation.

BALING WIRE, RAZOR BLADE IN CHILD'S DIET

ST. LOUIS, July 22—William Mealer, Jr., 2, was resting comfortably at city hospital today, despite the fact he chewed up and swallowed part of a razor blade and a length of baling wire.

Doctors tried to remove the metallic meal with an esophagoscope, but the last piece of chewed up blade disappeared down William's stomach just as it was about to be withdrawn.

Meanwhile, buyers' strikes and demonstrations in a number of cities had resulted in slight price decreases, but elsewhere boycotts appeared to have had little or no effect.

The CIO cost-of-living committee recommended consumers' boycotts in a statement to all CIO unions.

GOP MAY ASK ANOTHER PROBE

Further Investigation Of Pearl Harbor Disaster
Sought By Solons

WASHINGTON, July 22—Two Republican members of the Pearl Harbor committee today proposed another inquiry when and if the GOP gains control of congress.

Sens. Homer Ferguson, R. Mich., and Owen Brewster, R. Me., said the diplomatic negotiations which preceded the Dec. 7, 1941, disaster still need further exploration.

Nevertheless, Ferguson and Brewster laid the groundwork for a future Republican investigation in a minority report they filed with congress late Saturday.

"The whole question of whether or not it would have been possible to avoid war by proper diplomatic action and thus avert the Pearl Harbor tragedy was left largely unexplored," they said.

A majority of the 10-man special committee—six Democrats and two Republicans—signed a report specifically absolving the late President Roosevelt and his top Army headquarters.

Army headquarters announced today that the trial of Maj. Richard Lohr, former Lichfield provost marshal, has been postponed to Aug. 1.

Trial of Maj. Herbert Blum, who has been in the hospital at Frankfurt, has been postponed indefinitely.

ROOSEVELT HEADS PARTY

SACRAMENTO, Calif., July 22—James Roosevelt, oldest and most politically active of the late president's four sons, today assumed leadership of the California Democratic party. Other Legislation May Compete With Controls On Rents In Assembly

COLUMBUS, July 22—Call of the third special session of the 96th General Assembly to enact stop-gap rent controls appeared more likely to turn tonight into a scrap for other legislation.

Statehouse observers believed that the Ohio legislature, summoned to meet at 8 p. m. to pass on emergency rent control legislation, will bring up old grudges.

A feud between urban and rural legislators may be kindled again as an outgrowth of the "sleeper" provision included in the $5,000,000 additional allotment to local governments by the second special session two weeks ago.

Gov. Frank J. Lausche said he signed the measure only because it did provide additional funds to all cities. Rural solons found that larger cities received a larger share of the $5,000,000 than had been anticipated because of the "sleeper."

An effort may be made to reconsider the local governments monies measure as an appeasement gesture to soften rural delegates for rent control consideration. Rural representatives have no need for rent controls.

At Toledo, Sen. Raymond E. Hildebrand said that if the session enacts rent control legislation that provides for a 15 percent increase on rentals, he would demand an increase in old age benefits.

Hildebrand's proposal will be made of the 15 percent increase (Continued on Page Two)

Barkley Says Congress Will Not Be Able To Quit Next Week

WASHINGTON, July 22—Senate Democratic Leader Alben W. Barkley, Ky., said after a conference with President Truman today that congress would not be able to adjourn until next week despite its hopes to wind up by Saturday.

"I'm afraid we will have to go into the middle of next week," Barkley said.

He explained that the senate still had before it such matters as railroad retirement legislation, the terminal leave pay bill and the international aviation treaty as well as the new OPA bill.

Barkley went to the White House with Sen. Kenneth D. McKellar, D. Tenn., president pro tem of the senate; Speaker Sam Rayburn, D. Tex., and Rep. John W. McCormack, D. Mass., house majority leader, for their usual Monday morning conference with the President.

On capitol hill, where the calendars of both the house and senate are loaded with important controversial legislation, party leaders were talking about adjournment sometime between August 1 and 4.

At present, the intention of the Democratic leadership is to adjourn congress sine die—that is, (Continued on Page Two)

TWO AMERICANS STILL MISSING

McNarney Hints New Plans
May Be Tried To Find
Absent Officers

BERLIN, July 22—The case of two missing American officers was wide open again today as Gen. Joseph T. McNarney hinted at unexplained plans to bring about their release.

McNarney, U. S. commander in Europe, said steps designed to free Capt. Harold Cobin of Newark, N. J., and Lt. George Wyatt of Oklahoma City were "under consideration."

At the same time McNarney conceded at a press conference that he was helpless in the search for the officers who disappeared July 4 after boarding a train for Oranienburg nearby in the Russian occupation zone.

McNarney said the senior Russian commander, presumably Marshal Vasily D. Sokolovsky, had assured him that "to the best of his knowledge the missing men were not in Russian custody."

"I must accept his word," McNarney said. (Continued on Page Two)

CLINE TRIES TO GET TOLEDOAN FREED BY COURT

BAD NAUHEIM, July 22—Capt. Joseph A. Robertson Toledo, O., tried unsuccessfully today to have the case charging him with neglect of duty at the Lichfield camp dismissed.

Capt. Guy Cline, Ashville, O., his attorney, claimed that Robertson's previous testimony in two other cases made Robertson immune from prosecution.

Robertson is the fourth of six Lichfield officers to come to trial. He was the guardhouse company commander at the camp and was charged with aiding in the mistreatment of American prisoners.

Army headquarters announced today that the trial of Maj. Richard Lohr, former Lichfield provost marshal, has been postponed to Aug. 1.

Trial of Maj. Herbert Blum, who has been in the hospital at Frankfurt, has been postponed indefinitely.

NEW JUSTICE IS SWORN IN AT JAP WAR TRIALS

TOKYO, July 22—The Far East international military tribunal rejected today a defense motion to decline a new trial for 27 leading Japanese war criminal suspects because a new American justice was seated on the bench.

Maj. Gen. Myron Cramer was sworn in this afternoon after Sir William Webb, president of the court, announced that a majority of the tribunal had approved that he be seated. Cramer did not participate in the decision.

The defense had insisted that a new tribunal should be appointed to hear another trial on grounds there was no provision in the tribunal charter for Cramer's appointment.

Testimony in the trial itself was at a snail's pace as Chinese Gen. Chin Teh-Chun, vice minister of military operations, named former Japanese Gen. Kenji Doihara, a defendant, as the instigator of Japanese aggression in north China.

Chin spoke in Chinese and his testimony was translated into English and Japanese and other languages spoken by the various Allied judges. Correspondents reporting the trial were treated to a tower of babel effect when their circuits accidentally were cut in to that of the Russian tribunal member and his translator.

Elections Planned

LA PAZ, Bolivia, July 22—A regime of liberals, workers and students established a provisional government after a bloody four-day revolution in which an estimated 260 persons were killed, including President Gualberto Villarroel who was shot, hurled from a balcony and his battered body strung up on a lamp post.

Estimates of wounded ranged as high as 520.

La Paz was quiet today under the strong control of the youthful revolutionary group which proclaimed its democratic aspirations and announced general elections would be called as soon as possible.

Many bodies of those killed in the bloody street fighting still lay in the streets and plazas where they fell.

It was believed the provinces would support the new government although fighting between peasants and the constabulary was reported at Cumbre.

Newspapers, which have not appeared for four days, were due to be issued today. The newspapers Ultima Hora and La Razon which had been seized by the government were to be returned formally to their proprietors.

For the first time in the history of recent Bolivian revolutions no censorship was established for foreign correspondents.

A small edition of La Razon was hastily issued, declaring:

"Once more the students have reconquered for the Bolivian people their widest liberties."

ALL AMERICANS IN DANGER ZONE REPORTED SAFE

WASHINGTON, July 22—Late reports to the state department said today that all Americans were safe in revolt-torn Bolivia, and that the embassy staff had not been molested.

State department officials declined comment on the Bolivian situation pending receipt of more complete information on the revolutionary movement.

Most quarters said it was too early to guess whether the coup would give Bolivian president Gualberto Villarroel would start the country on the way to democracy.

Bolivia's turbulent background convinced many that the student, teacher and labor groups which staged the successful revolution would encounter difficulty in attempting to give Bolivia her first peaceful, popular government in many years.

Bolivian Ambassador Victor Andrade, who is expected to resign as a result of the bloody coup, would make no comment on the situation. He said he had received no official dispatches about it.

JAPS TO GET LOOK AT PEACETIME SUPERFORCES

TOKYO, July 22—Thirty B-29 Superfortresses based on Guam and Okinawa will roar low over 11 razed Japanese cities—including Hiroshima and Nagasaki—on Army Air Force day August 1 in what the Pacific air command described today as a "peace mission."

Officials said the exhibition was intended to give Japanese a chance to view without fear the great bombers which a year ago brought death and destruction to their cities.

On August 1, 1945, Army Air Force planes made 851 sorties against objectives in the Japanese homeland and occupied areas—the largest B-29 combat for a single day.

predicted Mr. Truman would sign the completed bill, but still not depend on it as the sole method of combating inflation. The official predicted the administration would take several other steps to keep down prices. He declined to go into details.

Senate Democratic Leader Alben W. Barkley, Ky., thought the compromise measure, vesting broad powers to lift price ceiling in the special board, would provide effective controls. Chairman Robert F. Wagner, D., N. Y., of the senate banking committee also believed "it will work out satisfactorily."

Wagner told a reporter that the President was asked over the weekend to give thought to which men he will appoint to the key decontrol board, "if he signs the bill."

The senate and house may take up the conference report tomorrow. Probable storm center of opposition will be the provision to reestablish price ceilings on meats, grain, milk and other dairy products, soy beans and cottonseed on Aug. 20, unless the three-man decontrol board finds supplies adequate and specifically orders OPA to drop the commodities from their pricing schedules.

Sen. Kenneth S. Wherry, R., Neb., expressed "strong opposition" to any move to reestablish meat ceilings. He declared that the senate overwhelmingly voted to ban meat controls and that he would carry his opposition to the floor.

Sen. Robert A. Taft, R., O., in a radio address, renewed his attack on the President's veto of congressional first attempt to write OPA continuation legislation.

"He placed a foolish importance on manufactured products as a cost-of-living item and vetoed the bill because of his objections to their price formula," Taft said. "If he had signed the bill, he wouldn't now be confronted with rising food prices and rapid increases in rents."

The new bill would give far-reaching powers to the decontrol board, to be appointed by the President and confirmed by the senate. The board, acting independently of OPA, could order lifting of price ceilings on both manufactured and agricultural goods.

The secretary of agriculture, too, is given broad powers over pricing of farm commodities. He would certify each agricultural item deemed in adequate supply and over which ceilings could be set.

Other major provisions of the bill would:

1. Extend OPA until June 30, 1947.
2. Re-establish federal rent control.
3. Authorize industries to petition the decontrol board for revision or removal of their ceilings. The board would conduct hearings on the petitions and make recommendations to the price administrator.

4. Drastically curtail the government subsidy program, with most payments ending not later than April 1, 1947.

5. Permit no ceiling prices on manufactured goods lower than the average prevailing in 1940, plus increased production costs since then. However, a discretionary clause would permit the OPA to decline to raise prices if the maximum price of a product equaled its average current cost plus a reasonable profit.

6. Ban price regulations on eggs, tobacco and poultry unless found in short supply by the secretary of agriculture or decontrol board.

7. Ban ceilings on petroleum unless the decontrol board finds them necessary.

is included in the rent control measure, he said. "I will insist that the state's 180,000 old-age pensioners get increased benefits to make up for the rent boosts."

Meanwhile, other legislators believed that no rent control laws would be enacted in view of the almost certain acceptance by congress of a compromise OPA-revival measure that will include rent controls.

Lausche said he would not call off the special session even though he was optimistic that Washington would pass the necessary legislation.

"I believe that if a federal law is enacted there will be no need for a state law," he said. "On the matter of postponing the session, I do not believe the chance ought to be taken. We might find ourselves in the position of having no rent control law on Aug. 1."

The governor asked for a local law to be effective only until it could be superseded by federal rent control measures.

HOUSEWIVES IN PRICE BATTLE

hood of Maintenance of Way employees ordered a buyers strike which would augment a boycott already invoked by the CIO United Auto Workers. The AFL union authorized its officers to seek additional wage increases if congress does not restore effective price controls.

Eighteen consumers, veterans and labor groups organized at Pittsburgh for strike action to demand return of OPA. Retailers there reported a slowdown in sales as consumers refused to pay pork and beef prices double former ceilings.

Butter prices were down slightly both at Cleveland and Philadelphia after reaching a high of nearly 80 cents per pound. Butter prices at Philadelphia were 72 to 75 cents today.

Boycotts had little effect on the prices of meat either at Philadelphia or Cleveland. One large meat market serving about 25,000 customers in Cleveland closed after consumers served notice they would picket because of high prices.

The American Meat Institute, spokesman for the major packers, said that prices on meat generally were lower than those prevailing when OPA ended.

"The situation at the weekend proves that without OPA controls, beef cattle, on which prices had been run up well above ceilings by black market operators, are seeking reasonable levels," the institute said.

State and local governments continued to act to prevent rent increases. Gov. Dwight H. Green called a special session of the Illinois legislature for next Tuesday to consider legislation which would freeze rents and declare a moratorium on evictions.

New York, Rhode Island and Michigan have passed legislation controlling rents and the governors of Alabama, Iowa, Massachusetts, New Jersey and Connecticut have issued executive orders calling for freezing of rents, according to a national survey by the public administration clearing house. Ohio legislators meet in special session tonight to discuss rent control.

In addition San Francisco, Los Angeles, Long Beach, Calif., Cincinnati, Denver, Covington, Ky., and Newport, Ky., have acted to freeze rents or limit rent increases locally, the survey disclosed.

ret underground organization as a counter-stroke to the British military roundup of Jews in Palestine. Army and government officials were buried in debris when the explosion went off with a shattering roar which smashed a whole wing of the hotel and wrecked a nearby YMCA building.

The attack was the most daring ever carried out by the Jewish underground. The King David hotel is the heart of the British military administration. It resembles a fortress more than a hotel with a perimeter of machinegun posts, barbed wire entanglements, sandbag barricades and concrete road blocks.

By some means not yet certain the Jewish resistance members apparently penetrated this security network and planted powerful mines in the basement of the hotel.

The King David explosion followed by a few minutes an earlier explosion, believed to have been caused by the blowing up of a British armored car. Whether this incident was connected with the King David explosion was not immediately certain.

Newspapers and spectators had gathered in the vicinity of the hotel and military police were investigating the first blast when suddenly the ground was rocked by an extremely heavy blast in the King David headquarters. Scores of officials were wounded and buried in the wreckage. Passersby were showered by flying glass and debris. The YMCA was turned into an emergency first aid station despite its own shattered walls and wrecked interior.

All persons leaving the hotel and the YMCA, including those who were wounded, were seized immediately by the police for questioning.

It was believed total casualties would be more than 50.

Neither acting high commissioner J. V. Shaw nor Lieut. Gen. Evelyn Bkeret, British commander for Palestine, were hurt.

It was reported that Richard Mowrer, correspondent of the New York Post, was among those seriously injured within the hotel. Officials said an accurate count of dead and wounded was not yet possible as bodies still were being dug from the debris.

Persons in the vicinity of the hotel a few minutes before the explosion said they saw a strange blue automobile in which several youths were riding through the crowds and escaped just as the explosion occurred.

It was thought that these youths might have planted the mines although it was not known how they could have entered the hotel basement.

Arrests were said to be underway at several places in Jerusalem and police were said to be hunting for Moshe Shoh, member of the Jewish agency executive, who has been underground since the British raiding started.

PHILADELPHIA MAN HELD ON AUTO THEFT CHARGE

"Why do reactionaries inflame a civil war which they cannot win? Because they hope a civil conflict in China will incite a war between America and the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics, and thus—at last—crush the Chinese Communists," she declared.

"The American people who are Allies and long friends of the Chinese people must be told clearly of this road to disaster. They must be told that American reactionaries are teaming up with Chinese reactionaries—each encouraging the other," she continued.

"They must be warned that loans should be given only to a reorganized and truly representative government," she said. until the newly-elected congress meets in January. However, some high-ranking Republicans in the house are talking of resisting a sine die adjournment with the idea that it might be well to leave the way open for the leaders to call congress into session after the November elections, if necessary.

This view isn't shared by all Republicans. House GOP leader Joseph W. Martin, Jr., Mass., contends that so long as congress can be readily called into session excuses for "national emergencies" can be found.

If congress adjourns even at the end of next week, it will be taking its longest vacation since June 14, 1938, when it quit sine die until January 3. In 1939, it adjourned sine die August 5 but President Roosevelt called it into session September 21 after the outbreak of war in Europe. It stayed in session until November 3, 1939.

The congressional program this week is fraught with controversy. Today the house takes up the senate-approved railroad reorganization bill. Tuesday, it considers the OPA conference report if it is ready. Then, if there is time, the highly controversial congressional reorganization bill will be taken up.

A deadlock over whether to call up a bill for a permanent fair employment practices commission will consume Wednesday.

Thursday, house leaders hope to get action on bills to extend the reconstruction finance corporation to create three additional assistant secretaries of commerce.

The senate will consider the house-approved Tidelands and the railroad retirement revision bills as well as the Bulwinkle bill to exempt railroads from anti-trust laws in connection with certain rate-making practices.

In addition, the senate will have to act on the OPA conference report, on the house's atomic energy control bill revisions and a house-approved measure to overhaul the U. S. foreign service of the state department.

diplomatic and military advisers. Ferguson and Brewster insisted that Mr. Roosevelt and his top military aides in Washington were just as responsible as Rear Adm. Husband E. Kimmel and Lt. Gen. Walter C. Short, deposed Hawaiian commanders.

The two Republicans made no finding regarding the diplomatic phase because they said it was not completely explored in the six months investigation conducted by the special committee. They blamed the partisan makeup of the committee—six Democrats and four Republicans—as well as Democratic administration control of official documents and papers.

"Permission was asked to conduct exploration for certain missing records," they said. "Vigorous and public denial was made, presumably on executive authority, that any records were missing. Subsequently it developed that several records were missing and most inadequate explanations were supplied..."

"These incidents revealed a disquieting determination to keep entire control of the investigation in the hands of the committee majority who were thus put in the unusual position of arrogating to themselves the capacity to conduct an impartial and adequate investigation of their own administration."

"The history of human conduct furnishes few precedents to justify such confidence."

Ferguson and Brewster complained that:

1. Former Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson declined to appear on the ground of failing health, and "access to his diary was denied by majority vote."

2. Former Secretary of State Cordell Hull made three appearances during which he submitted a prepared statement and was cross-examined by committee counsel "but minority members of the committee were not permitted to cross-examine him."

3. "The diary of former ambassador (to Tokyo) Joseph C. Grew was likewise denied to the committee."

4. "Many messages, probably several hundreds, between Winston Churchill and President Roosevelt prior to Dec. 7, 1941, were not available to the committee although there is good reason to believe that they bore on the gathering crisis." The committee, by majority vote, refused Ferguson's request that Churchill be asked to testify.

5. Mr. Roosevelt's secretary, Miss Grace Tully, was "permitted to determine for herself and the committee what portion of the official correspondence of the late president had any relevancy to Pearl Harbor."

Deaths and Funerals

CALVIN M. MAY

Calvin onoe May, 73, Walnut township farmer, died at 6:10 p. m. Sunday in his home at East Ringgold.

Mr. May was born in Walnut township, the son of George J. May and Mary Helm May. He was of the Baptist faith and was a member of the Odd Fellows lodge, Circleville. As weighmaster at the old H. M. Crites Company elevator for about 13 years he became widely known among farmers in the Circleville area.

Survivors include his widow, Mrs. Etha Newton May, a daughter, Mrs. Sherman Barr, Town street; two sons, Edgar and Warren, both at home; three brothers, John May, Route 4, Circleville; Lynn May, Amanda, RFD; and Nelson May, Rock Rapids, Ia.; and four grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

The body will be returned to the residence, Tuesday, from the Deffenbaugh funeral home.

Funeral services will be conducted at 2 p. m. Wednesday at the residence, with Elder G. F. Hanover officiating. The services will be open to the public. Burial will be in Reber Hill cemetery. Friends may call at the residence.

MRS. JOHN W. YOUNG

Mrs. Carrie Belle Young, 64, died at 3:55 p. m. Saturday in Mt. Carmel hospital, Columbus.

Besides her husband Mrs. Young is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Edna B. Fishaw, Akron; two sons, Ralph E. Young, Delaware; and Loren W. Young, Phoenix, Ariz.; a sister, Mrs. Anna McClelland, Lancaster; three brothers, Orrell Schaffer, Troy; Elmer Schaffer, Amanda; and Arthur Schaffer, Jackson, Mich.; and four grandchildren.

Funeral services will be conducted at 10:30 a. m. Tuesday in the Methodist church at Amanda, with the Rev. L. A. Donnally and the Rev. Earnest Barlett officiating. Burial will be in Amanda Township cemetery under direction of the Crites and Van Cleave funeral home. Friends may call at the residence.

ROBERT E. SWEPSTON

Funeral services for Robert Earl Swebston, 64, Chillicothe, nationally prominent auctioneer and widely known in Circleville area who died Saturday in his home, were to be conducted Monday afternoon in the Ware funeral home, Chillicothe. Burial was to be in Grandview cemetery, Chillicothe. Mr. Swebston's death was attributed to pneumonia. He was ill one week.

Following World War I Mr. Swebston supervised the world's largest horse and mule auction which was held at Camp Sherman. For 25 years he served as starting judge for harness races and at many county fairs and the Ohio State Fair.

women and children has been stamped out by the heroic people of La Paz."

The success of the revolution was attributed to the fact that troops on whom Villarroel relied stood aside when the anger of the people became evident after the slaying of a group of university students Thursday. It was the second time in recent history that Bolivian students have spearheaded a revolution, the other occasion being in 1930.

It was not believed that any militarists would return to power in Bolivia.

Bolivian exiles in Lima who had taken refuge from the Villarroel regime expressed belief that the new government would mark a democratic era for Bolivia and might include the leftist revolutionary party whose leader, Dr. Jose Antonio Arze, who long had been opposed to Villarroel.

These quarters emphasized the fact that the revolution was accomplished without the participation of any old-line politicians or representatives of the powerful Bolivian mining interests.

hood of Maintenance of Way employees ordered a buyers strike which would augment a boycott already invoked by the CIO United Auto Workers. The AFL union authorized its officers to seek additional wage increases if congress does not restore effective price controls.

Eighteen consumers, veterans and labor groups organized at Pittsburgh for strike action to demand return of OPA. Retailers there reported a slowdown in sales as consumers refused to pay pork and beef prices double former ceilings.

Butter prices were down slightly both at Cleveland and Philadelphia after reaching a high of nearly 80 cents per pound. Butter prices at Philadelphia were 72 to 75 cents today.

Boycotts had little effect on the prices of meat either at Philadelphia or Cleveland. One large meat market serving about 25,000 customers in Cleveland closed after consumers served notice they would picket because of high prices.

The American Meat Institute, spokesman for the major packers, said that prices on meat generally were lower than those prevailing when OPA ended.

"The situation at the weekend proves that without OPA controls, beef cattle, on which prices had been run up well above ceilings by black market operators, are seeking reasonable levels," the institute said.

State and local governments continued to act to prevent rent increases. Gov. Dwight H. Green called a special session of the Illinois legislature for next Tuesday to consider legislation which would freeze rents and declare a moratorium on evictions.

New York, Rhode Island and Michigan have passed legislation controlling rents and the governors of Alabama, Iowa, Massachusetts, New Jersey and Connecticut have issued executive orders calling for freezing of rents, according to a national survey by the public administration clearing house. Ohio legislators meet in special session tonight to discuss rent control.

In addition San Francisco, Los Angeles, Long Beach, Calif., Cincinnati, Denver, Covington, Ky., and Newport, Ky., have acted to freeze rents or limit rent increases locally, the survey disclosed.

AT LEAST TEN DEAD IN BLAST AT JERUSALEM

ret underground organization as a counter-stroke to the British military roundup of Jews in Palestine.

Army and government officials were buried in debris when the explosion went off with a shattering roar which smashed a whole wing of the hotel and wrecked a nearby YMCA building.

The attack was the most daring ever carried out by the Jewish underground. The King David hotel is the heart of the British military administration. It resembles a fortress more than a hotel with a perimeter of machinegun posts, barbed wire entanglements, sandbag barricades and concrete road blocks.

By some means not yet certain the Jewish resistance members apparently penetrated this security network and planted powerful mines in the basement of the hotel.

The King David explosion followed by a few minutes an earlier explosion, believed to have been caused by the blowing up of a British armored car. Whether this incident was connected with the King David explosion was not immediately certain.

Newspapermen and spectators had gathered in the vicinity of the hotel and military police were investigating the first blast when suddenly the ground was rocked by an extremely heavy blast in the King David headquarters. Scores of officials were wounded and buried in the wreckage. Passersby were showered by flying glass and debris. The YMCA was turned into an emergency first aid station despite its own shattered walls and wrecked interior.

All persons leaving the hotel and the YMCA, including those who were wounded, were seized immediately by the police for questioning.

It was believed total casualties would be more than 50.

Neither acting high commissioner J. V. Shaw nor Lieut. Gen. Evelyn Berkett, British commander for Palestine, were hurt.

It was reported that Richard Mowrer, correspondent of the New York Post, was among those seriously injured within the hotel. Officials said an accurate count of dead and wounded was not yet possible as bodies still were being dug from the debris.

Persons in the vicinity of the hotel a few minutes before the explosion said they saw a strange blue automobile in which several youths were riding through the crowds and escaped just as the explosion occurred.

It was thought that these youths might have planted the mines although it was not known how they could have entered the hotel basement.

Arrests were said to be under way at several places in Jerusalem and police were said to be hunting for Moshe Sneh, member of the Jewish executive, who has been underground since the British raiding started.

PHILADELPHIA MAN HELD ON AUTO THEFT CHARGE

Accused of stealing an automobile in Columbus, John E. Lyons, 20, Philadelphia, Pa., a recent Navy dischargee, Monday was in the Circleville city jail awaiting release to the custody of Columbus police.

Lyons was arrested at 12:05 a. m. Sunday at the Spur Oil Company's filling station, West Main street, by police who said that he carried three automobile keys and two skeleton keys. The automobile, which was stolen Saturday night, belonged to Lee R. Washington, 214 Hinkle avenue, Columbus.

A dump truck owned by Homer Lowery, 364 Walnut street, was stolen Saturday from West Main street, and the vehicle was recovered by police, Sunday, in a parking space on South Scioto street.

tion government must be established in China and that a civil war would not settle the issue.

"Why do reactionaries inflame a civil war which they cannot win? Because they hope a civil conflict in China will incite a war between America and the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics, and thus—at last—crush the Chinese Communists," she declared.

"The American people who are Allies and long friends of the Chinese people must be told clearly of this road to disaster. They must be told that American reactionaries are teaming up with Chinese reactionaries—each encouraging the other," she continued.

"They must be warned that loans should be given only to a reorganized and truly representative government," she said. "They must be told that if America makes plain she will not supply munitions or military assistance there will be no spreading Chinese civil war. . . I appeal to China's American friends to stop all military supplies, providing assistance only to a government which will belong to the Chinese people. I appeal to the major parties and all other parties to form a coalition government at once."

SOLONS FACING LONGER SESSION

until the newly-elected congress meets in January. However, some high-ranking Republicans in the house are talking of resisting a sine die adjournment with the idea that it might be well to leave the way open for the leaders to call congress into session after the November elections, if necessary.

This view isn't shared by all Republicans. House GOP leader Joseph W. Martin, Jr., Mass., contends that so long as congress can be readily called into session excuses for "national emergencies" can be found.

If congress adjourns even at the end of next week, it will be taking its longest vacation since June 14, 1938, when it quit sine die until January 3. In 1939, it adjourned sine die August 5 but President Roosevelt called it into session September 21 after the outbreak of war in Europe. It stayed in session until November 3, 1939.

The congressional program this week is fraught with controversy. Today the house takes up the senate-approved railroad reorganization bill. Tuesday, it considers the OPA conference report if it is ready. Then, if there is time, the highly controversial congressional reorganization bill will be taken up.

A deadlock over whether to call up a bill for a permanent fair employment practices commission will consume Wednesday.

Thursday, house leaders hope to get action on bills to extend the reconstruction finance corporation to create three additional assistant secretaries of commerce.

The senate will consider the house-approved Tideland and the railroad retirement revision bills as well as the Bulwinkle bill to exempt railroads from anti-trust laws in connection with certain rate-making practices.

In addition, the senate will have to act on the OPA conference report, on the house's atomic energy control bill revisions and a house-approved measure to overhaul the U. S. foreign service of the state department.

diplomatic and military advisers.

Ferguson and Brewster insisted that Mr. Roosevelt and his top military aides in Washington were just as responsible as Rear Adm. Husband E. Kimmel and Lt. Gen. Walter C. Short, deposed Hawaiian commanders.

The two Republicans made no finding regarding the diplomatic phase because they said it was not completely explored in the six months investigation conducted by the special committee. They blamed the partisan makeup of the committee—six Democrats and four Republicans—as well as Democratic administration control of official documents and papers.

"Permission was asked to conduct exploration for certain missing records," they said. "Vigorous and public denial was made, presumably on executive authority, that any records were missing. Subsequently it developed that several records were missing and most adequate explanations were supplied . . ."

"These incidents revealed a disquieting determination to keep entire control of the investigation in the hands of the committee majority who were thus put in the unusual position of arrogating to themselves the capacity to conduct an impartial and adequate investigation of their own administration."

"The history of human conduct furnishes few precedents to justify such confidence."

Ferguson and Brewster complained that:

1. Former Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson declined to appear on the ground of failing health, and "access to his diary was denied by majority vote."

2. Former Secretary of State Cordell Hull made three appearances during which he submitted a prepared statement and was cross-examined by committee counsel "but minority members of the committee were not permitted to cross-examine him."

3. "The diary of former ambassador (to Tokyo) Joseph C. Grew was likewise denied to the committee."

4. "Many messages, probably several hundreds, between Winston Churchill and President Roosevelt prior to Dec. 7, 1941, were not available to the committee although there is good reason to believe that they bore on the gathering crisis." The committee, by majority vote, refused Ferguson's request that Churchill be asked to testify.

5. Mr. Roosevelt's secretary, Miss Grace Tully, was "permitted to determine for herself and the committee what portion of the official correspondence of the late president had any relevancy to Pearl Harbor."

JUVENILE CRIME LEVELING OFF, EXPERT STATES

Probation Worker Thinks
Delinquency Will Drop
In Next Few Years

BY PAUL F. ELLIS
United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, July 22—Headlines telling of new juvenile crimes, sex and murder, are causing no unusual amount of alarm to white-haired Charles L. Chute, a veteran in probationary work.

He believes that juvenile delinquency has reached its peak and is now leveling off.

Chute, executive director of the National Probation Association, has figures and reports from various sections of the country to back up his belief.

They indicate, he said, that with the war over and the continued activity of social agency resources, juvenile delinquency will reach its former low within 10 years.

Chute, who organized the probation association 25 years ago, said that juvenile delinquency which increased 50 per cent during the war is now going down and that "there is no honest evidence of any great increase in the amount or severity of adult crime."

He said naturally such cases as that of William Heirens, confessed slayer of Suzanne Degnan in Chicago cause concern, but that it must be remembered that more publicity is being given to such crimes; that there are many more newspaper readers; and that in the long run this publicity will have its good effect.

He meant that it would tend to stimulate more interest in agencies working to prevent juvenile delinquency.

As for the figures on juvenile delinquency, he said that children in crime increased 50 per cent from 1941 through 1945, although in 1945 delinquency among girls decreased five per cent.

New reports from his associates, Chute said, indicate that the juvenile crime rate is going down in 1946, and that "if we develop our resources, we will get back the low in another 10 years."

"Recovery is pretty slow," he said.

Industrial upsets, such as the moving of families from rural communities to the larger cities during the war, were among the reasons juvenile delinquency increased, he said.

That meant in many cases broken up homes, neglect of children, and unnatural situations all of which sent the delinquency rate zooming.

Dr. Luther E. Woodward, field consultant for the National Association for Mental Hygiene, also said that child neglect was one of the big reasons for juvenile delinquency.

He said that as to the effect of the war on juvenile delinquency "we must wait at least 10 years."

He reported that many babies during the war and now in nursery schools were hyper-sensitive, over-active youngsters. This may be the result, he said, of their mothers being worried and anxious with the father away to the war.

Dr. Woodward also pointed out that the war was as hard on adolescents as it was on the boys in service. With the war over, many of these adolescents will have trouble finding jobs. Many insecure situations may crop up, he said.

One widely known psychiatrist, who asked to remain anonymous, said that schizophrenia, or split personality, was the cause behind many cases of juvenile delinquency, but that the disease may be cured if caught in time.

In fact, he said, millions of persons, particularly during puberty, have tendencies toward such emotional deterioration, but never reach the breaking point when it turns into actual schizophrenia.

Catching the trouble in time, he said, is the big problem facing psychiatrists because in so many cases the disease is not recognized.

THAT'S NO JOKE— JUDGE RULES OUT QUEER WILL

HURON, S. D., July 22—Some 7,000 persons who hoped to win $30,000 for the best definition of "joke" were in for a disappointment today—and that's no joke.

County Judge R. M. Russell filed a memorandum decision with the county clerk, declaring invalid the will of the late Clarence Richardson, 55-year-old Westinghouse, S. D., eccentric, who bequeathed his estate to the person submitting the best definition of the word "joke."

Richardson, the judge said, was not of sound mind when he made the will.

The will said that no dictionary explanation of the word "joke" was suitable and stipulated that the prize-winning definition "must define and answer the all and total meaning of the Holy Bible and all sociological meaning of man and the earth."

F. D. Fitch, Richardson's friend and Westinghouse postmaster, named executor of the will, immediately was swamped with definitions.

Incoming mail receipts doubled at the little third-class postoffice after the will was announced. Fitch said he still was receiving definitions, but that most of them failed to meet the two primary qualifications.

"A joke is a collection of words that tickle where you can't scratch," one entrant wrote.

"A joke is the parent of a laugh," said another.

One contestant described a joke as "wisdom, expressed in nonsensical words."

PEARSON JEERED AND CHEERED

Commentator Charges Klan
Chief May Be Named Head
Of Georgia Probers

ATLANTA, Ga., July 22—Flanked by a corps of policemen, some 1,500 persons last night alternately cheered and booed Commentator Drew Pearson as he declared that governor-nominee Eugene Talmadge had promised to install a Ku Klux Klan official as head of the Georgia bureau of investigation.

Pearson charged over a national network that Talmadge had pledged to a KKK grand cyclops that "all race problems will be left to the Klan."

Speaking from Georgia's capitol grounds, Pearson said that Talmadge would appoint Grand Cyclops Sam Roper of Klan 297 in Atlanta to head the GBI, a statement that drew cheers from the crowd that stood in a light rain during the broadcast.

Gov. Ellis Arnall, who has a legal suit pending to revoke the Klan's charter in Georgia, was applauded when he introduced Pearson but later the familiar campaign cry was heard—"we want Gene" and "hooray for Talmadge."

Arnall called Pearson a "valiant crusader for truth, tolerance, understanding and good will among men," and said there was no place in Georgia or America for "hate organizations."

Although at times Pearson had to raise his voice to speak above the din of cheers and jeers, police reported no incident occurring. Klan Grand Dragon Dr. Samuel Green of Atlanta had requested extra policemen at the broadcast.

"The twentieth century carpet-bagger is the Ku Klux Klan," Pearson declared, amid loud boos from the crowd.

"Ku Klux Klanism and all the other isms which preach hate are not merely the business of the South—they are the business of the nation. And as with Hitler, the time to stamp them out is now."

He declared that as long as books are written and men read them, the Klan will be condemned for its doctrine of hate.

He said he spoke here "despite threatening letters challenging my right to come to Atlanta and calling me a northern carpet-bagger."

Pearson described Arnall, who invited him to speak from the capitol grounds, as one of the "greatest governors" in the country.

The victim's father told police he had received five threatening letters, two of them last Saturday. He reported that one of the notes said, "tell the officers to come back and search again and take what they can find. Ha. Ha. Those dumb Newton cops."

He said that his attacker tried to cut his throat but that he fought him off. The masked man inflicted hand injuries on the youth when he struck to ward off the blade. His clothing was ripped also. After a short scuffle, the attacker dropped the knife and ran.

After he sounded the alarm, residents joined the police in the manhunt.

Police said the man—wearing a white mask and white gloves—was "undoubtedly the same" who had broken into homes without committing any thefts. Police could not explain his behavior.

The victim's father told police he had received five threatening letters, two of them last Saturday. He reported that one of the notes said, "tell the officers to come back and search again and take what they can find. Ha. Ha. Those dumb Newton cops."

Little Billy was sent to the home of Mrs. R. B. Knox, whose family had gone to church, while Deputy Sheriff Ralph Pitts and J. C. Rudisill, Jr., stood guard in the Rudisill home. Both were armed but Billy was not.

The prowler slipped up behind Billy and said, "you've asked for it. Now you're going to get it."

He said that his attacker tried to cut his throat but that he fought him off. The masked man inflicted hand injuries on the youth when he struck to ward off the blade. His clothing was ripped also. After a short scuffle, the attacker dropped the knife and ran.

BUTTER STILL NOT PLENTIFUL

Rural Economists Expect No
Big Supply Of Butter
Despite Price Boost

COLUMBUS, O., July 22—Butter will not be plentiful for U. S. citizens in the last half of 1946 no matter what action is taken about OPA regulations, in the opinion of rural economists at Ohio State University, who predict the butter supply for the last six months will be an average of five pounds per person.

The economists, however, do not predict that each homemaker will be able to buy the five pounds per person for the members of her family. Reports from across the nation indicate some markets have butter and that others do not, with the most plentiful supplies being in areas where prices are highest.

In prewar years, per capita consumption of butter averaged almost 17 pounds annually; but the 1946 supply will provide about 10 pounds per person during the year. Government set aside regulations took 20 per cent of the commercially manufactured butter in May and June, which ordinarily are the high months in butter making.

The rural economists say milk production for the first five months of 1946 was only 2 per cent less than in 1945, but butter production was down 30 per cent from 1945 levels in the first quarter of 1946. Production of evaporated milk and of cheese also was considerably below the 1945 output for the first half of the year.

Better shortages have been at least partly due to the bigger profits obtainable for sales of fluid milk and cream and ice cream. Government regulations prohibited the sale of whipping cream after July 1, reduced the percentage of butterfat which can be put in ice cream, and limited the amount of cream which can be placed in storage July and August.

JUVENILE CRIME LEVELING OFF, EXPERT STATES

Probation Worker Thinks
Delinquency Will Drop
In Next Few Years

BY PAUL F. ELLIS
United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, July 22—Headlines telling of new juvenile crimes, sex and murder, are causing no unusual amount of alarm to white-haired Charles L. Chute, a veteran in probationary work.

He believes that juvenile delinquency has reached its peak and is now leveling off.

Chute, executive director of the National Probation Association, has figures and reports from various sections of the country to back up his belief.

They indicate, he said, that with the war over and the continued activity of social agency resources, juvenile delinquency will reach its former low within 10 years.

Chute, who organized the probation association 25 years ago, said that juvenile delinquency which increased 50 per cent during the war is now going down and that "there is no honest evidence of any great increase in the amount or severity of adult crime."

He said naturally such cases as that of William Helms, confessed slayer of Suzanne Degnan in Chicago cause concern, but that it must be remembered that more publicity is being given to such crimes; that there are many more newspaper readers; and that in the long run this publicity will have its good effect.

He meant that it would tend to stimulate more interest in agencies working to prevent juvenile delinquency.

As for the figures on juvenile delinquency, he said that children in crime increased 50 per cent from 1941 through 1945, although in 1945 delinquency among girls decreased five per cent.

New reports from his associates, Chute said, indicate that the juvenile crime rate is going down in 1946, and that "if we develop our resources, we will get back the low in another 10 years."

"Recovery is pretty slow," he said.

Industrial upsets, such as the moving of families from rural communities to the larger cities during the war, were among the reasons juvenile delinquency increased, he said.

That meant in many cases broken up homes, neglect of children, and unnatural situations all of which sent the delinquency rate zooming.

Dr. Luther E. Woodward, field consultant for the National Association for Mental Hygiene, also said that child neglect was one of the big reasons for juvenile delinquency.

He said that as to the effect of the war on juvenile delinquency "we must wait at least 10 years." He reported that many babies during the war and now in nursery schools were hyper-sensitive, over-active youngsters. This may be the result, he said, of their mothers being worried and anxious with the father away to the war.

Dr. Woodward also pointed out that the war was as hard on adolescents as it was on the boys in service. With the war over, many of these adolescents will have trouble finding jobs. Many insecure situations may crop up, he said.

One widely known psychiatrist, who asked to remain anonymous, said that schizophrenia, or split personality, was the cause behind many cases of juvenile delinquency, but that the disease may be cured if caught in time.

In fact, he said, millions of persons, particularly during puberty, have tendencies toward such emotional deterioration, but never reach the breaking point when it turns into actual schizophrenia. Catching the trouble in time, he said, is the big problem facing psychiatrists because in so many cases the disease is not recognized.

THAT'S NO JOKE— JUDGE RULES OUT QUEER WILL

HURON, S. D., July 22—Some 7,000 persons who hoped to win $30,000 for the best definition of "joke" were in for a disappointment today—and that's no joke.

County Judge R. M. Russell filed a memorandum decision with the county clerk, declaring invalid the will of the late Clarence Richardson, 55-year-old Westinghouse, S. D., eccentric, who bequeathed his estate to the person submitting the best definition of the word "joke."

Richardson, the judge said, was not of sound mind when he made the will.

The will said that no dictionary explanation of the word "joke" was suitable and stipulated that the prize-winning definition "must define and answer the all and total meaning of the Holy Bible and all sociological meaning of man and the earth."

F. D. Fitch, Richardson's friend and Westinghouse postmaster, named executor of the will, immediately was swamped with definitions.

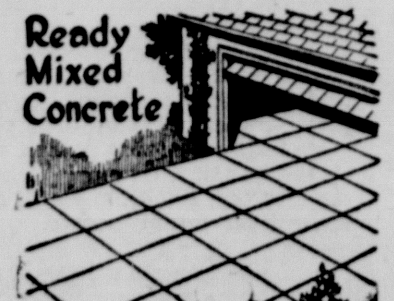

Incoming mail receipts doubled at the little third-class postoffice after the will was announced. Fitch said he still was receiving definitions, but that most of them failed to meet the two primary qualifications.

"A joke is a collection of words that tickle where you can't scratch," one entrant wrote.

"A joke is the parent of a laugh," said another.

One contestant described a joke as "wisdom, expressed in nonsensical words."

PEARSON JEERED AND CHEERED

Commentator Charges Klan
Chief May Be Named Head
Of Georgia Probers

ATLANTA, Ga., July 22—Flanked by a corps of policemen, some 1,500 persons last night alternately cheered and booed Commentator Drew Pearson as he declared that governor-nominee Eugene Talmadge had promised to install a Ku Klux Klan official as head of the Georgia bureau of investigation.

Pearson charged over a national network that Talmadge had pledged to a KKK grand cyclops that "all race problems will be left to the Klan."

Speaking from Georgia's capitol grounds, Pearson said that Talmadge would appoint Grand Cyclops Sam Roper of Klan 297 in Atlanta to head the GBI, a statement that drew cheers from the crowd that stood in a light rain during the broadcast.

Gov. Ellis Arnall, who has a legal suit pending to revoke the Klan's charter in Georgia, was applauded when he introduced Pearson but later the familiar campaign cry was heard—"we want Gene" and "hooray for Talmadge."

Arnall called Pearson a "valiant crusader for truth, tolerance, understanding and good will among men," and said there was no place in Georgia or America for "hate organizations."

Although at times Pearson had to raise his voice to speak above the din of cheers and jeers, police reported no incident occurring. Klan Grand Dragon Dr. Samuel Green of Atlanta had requested extra policemen at the broadcast.

"The twentieth century carpet-bagger is the Ku Klux Klan," Pearson declared, amid loud boos from the crowd.

"Ku Klux Klanism and all the other isms which preach hate are not merely the business of the South—they are the business of the nation. And as with Hitler, the time to stamp them out is now."

He declared that as long as books are written and men read them, the Klan will be condemned for its doctrine of hate.

He said he spoke here "despite threatening letters challenging my right to come to Atlanta and calling me a northern carpet bagger." Pearson described Arnall, who invited him to speak from the capitol grounds, as one of the "greatest governors" in the country.

MEN AND WOMEN IN UNIFORM

S/2C Joseph J. Anderson, 325 East Franklin street, was discharged from the Navy on July 19 according to an official notification from Great Lakes, Ill.

The notorious Gretna Green marriages were performed by the village blacksmith, although the tollkeeper, ferryman or any other person could officiate, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica. Runaway couples needed only to declare their wish to marry in the presence of witnesses. The practice virtually ended in 1856, when the law required one of the contracting parties to reside in Scotland three weeks prior to the wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. John Courtwright, of Marion, were Saturday guests of Mrs. A. B. Courtwright.

Mrs. Mary Ann Bresler, daughter of Ralph Stevenson, left Saturday for Nashville, Tennessee, where she will make her home. Mrs. Bresler has been living with her father while her husband has been in the Armed Services.

FOREIGN SERVICE

THE United States foreign service will have a general overhauling if a bill now before the House foreign affairs committee is passed by Congress.

The bill provides for the raising of salaries for ambassadors and ministers for the first time in 90 years. Expenses which accompany the high positions are so great that for years a man without a private source of income has not been able to afford to represent the United States at one of the more important diplomatic posts—a situation hardly consistent with democracy. In contrast, the British ambassador in Washington at present receives more than twice the amount paid the American ambassador in London.

Also included in the bill are provisions for salary raises for foreign service officers all down the line, a new promotion and retirement system intended to make it possible for men to advance faster on merit, and more frequent leaves and assignments in this country to keep the corps in closer touch with United States policies. An institute would be established for intensive training.

This bill is worthy of study and general approval. At a time when the country's foreign service has more difficult tasks and greater responsibilities than ever before, it is important that the service be organized to function as effectively as possible.

Never was the country better prepared for a "butter revolt." Everybody's forgotten what the stuff tastes like, anyhow.

These four foreign ministers must need a recess, before they have to start all over at the Peace Conference.

One of these days, if people live long enough, the streets will again blossom with signs reading "For Rent".

Hollywood Film Shop ... By Patricia Clary

HOLLYWOOD — The canine first lady of Hollywood is 14 years old, practically deaf and sleeps in a basket.

Her name is Tibbie, and she's Bette Davis' Sooty dog.

Tibbie has the run of the Warner Bros. lot, and is the only dog who gets in the Green Room. (That's the studio cafe for stars and executives.)

"That's because Tibbie is a lady," Miss Davis says. No one ever contradicts her.

Tibbie's closest rival for queen of the lot is Duchess, a tired old shepherd owned by Ida Lupino. Tibbie has more seniority, though, and rather than challenge her, Duchess usually stays home.

Then there are Pupchen and Tommy, Joan Crawford's dachshund and poodle, respectively. But they are comparative newcomers at Warners.

Errol Flynn's schnauzer, Arno, used to be Tibbie's king consort. Then he was drowned. Flynn's new schnauzer hasn't crashed society yet.

Tibbie, who has been around the sound stages with her mistress nearly all of her 14 years, is not at all impressed by movies. She seldom waddles on to the stage, but stays curled up in her basket in Miss Davis' dressing room or in her own canvas-back chair.

"She doesn't hear as well as she used to," Miss Davis said. "Sometimes now when we take her to lunch, she goes to sleep under the table and is dead to the world when we call her."

When she wakes up, though, she toddles out to the stage where Bette is working. She always finds her.

"We made the poor old thing awfully unhappy the other day," Miss Davis confessed. "We got a new dog, a cocker spaniel named Sooty, and then we got a boxer, named Scotzi. Poor Tibbie thought we were giving her up, and you've never seen such an obedient dog as she was—for a while."

Then Tibbie discovered that she, and she alone, was going to that studio with Miss Davis, and that she had the run of the house while the newcomers stayed out in the backyard.

"She's her old self now," Miss Davis laughed.

Milo Anderson, who counts nearly every top star in Hollywood among the 1,000 women he has dressed, believes it's not what you put into a dress that makes it chic. It's what you leave off.

Simplicity in style, he has learned, is what makes a star's clothes look as good when a picture is released as they did when it was filmed two years earlier.

Constance Bennett first taught him that rule, he said, some 15 years ago when he was starting out as one of the youngest designers in the movie business.

"She was looking over one of my creations and called it 'just lousy with frills,' he recalled. "She told me that style was in the basic dress, not in the geesaws."

Outside of that, Anderson has no theories about his work.

"I design by instinct," he said. "I never considered myself a genius about it, never spent nights studying costume plates. I didn't even finish high school. I just work hard."

His hard work has produced movie creations that millions of American women have copied. He made a sweater girl of Lana Turner in "They Won't Forget"; he put the first coulotte on Bette Davis in "The Petrified Forest"; he gave the wimple hat back to the world in "Robin Hood," with Olivia de Havilland.

Anderson's latest assignment was costuming Irene Dunne for Warner Bros. "Life with Father."

"Naturally, all the costumes had to be authentic 1880," he said. "Costumes aren't hard, ordinarily. But some of these outfits looked just like what they're wearing today. In order to make them look authentic, we had to change them."

Most of the costumes adhere strictly to the period. In her scenes with the minister, Miss Dunne wears a jabot and cuffs of genuine Duchess and rose point lace. Her shoulder cape for the baptism scene is done completely in beads of deep ecru. Even the bustles are authentic. They're the medium type used in 1880 with horsehair and feather boning and a net foundation to hold the shape.

Miss Dunne's 14 changes took Anderson only two weeks to design and execute. Her clothes are so tightly fitted that the slightest body change due to heat or cold calls for alterations.

The 35-year-old couturier's career began when at 17, wearing a pair of jeans and with his head shaved according to high school custom, he brought sketches to Adrian, MGM's chief designer.

"You don't have what it takes," Adrian told him. Arthur Hornblow of Samuel Goldwyn Studios thought differently and hired the baldheaded boy at $500 a week.

"My richest job was the gold slipper cloth gown Verree Teasdale wore in 'Midsummer Night's Dream,'" he said. "It cost $8,000 and the jewels and embroidery on it were so heavy that it went along on wheels while Verree walked inside it."

Milo, by the way, didn't see the movie. He has yet to go to a movie for which he has done the clothes.

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, July 22—The final defense of Mihailovitch, the hero of the Chetniks, was little reported in this country. American popular interest in him waned when he was reported to have "admitted acts of collaboration" with the enemy during the war. Of such a character is our acute sense of justice. But in this case it has been successfully abused—and misled.

Mihailovitch spoke for four hours from notes he had made for 30 days, ending his speech at midnight, with this final accounting from an anti-Nazi resistance soldier:

"I had against me a competitive organization, the Communist party which seeks its aims without compromise. I was faced with changes in my own government and accused of connections with every possible secret service, enemy and allied. I believed I was on the right road and called on any foreign journalist or red army mission to visit me and see everything. But fate was merciless to me when it threw me into this maelstrom (between the western democracies and Russia). I wanted much. I started much, but the gale of the world carried me away from my work."

This is a Serbian soldier of resistance, far from the early time when he and the British alone were resisting the Nazis but Russia was not, speaking after clever Communist torture in a mockery of trials which could find a counterpart only in the Moscow treason trials for Russian propaganda purposes. The methods of torture which broke his mind have been frequently described in books available at our libraries (Ian Valtin's "Out of the Night"). DIET AND HEALTH

A Serious Nervous Disorder

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

FOR a long time, doctors have recognized a disease of the nervous system called multiple sclerosis without being able to do much about it.

They know that it causes the formation of scar tissue in various parts of the nervous system, sometimes here, sometimes there, often in many places at once. But in spite of much study, they have not yet been able to discover its exact cause.

Afflicting More People And that is a pity because this disease seems, for some unknown reason, to be afflicting more people now than ever before. According to Dr. Johannes M. Nielsen of Los Angeles, it is the most common organic disease of the nervous system occurring in Europe and is becoming much more common in the United States.

It is found most often in Switzerland and northern Europe, but is virtually unknown among the yellow races. It occurs as often in one sex as in the other, usually in persons between 40 and 50 years of age. Occupation seems to have no influence on the disease. Some think that diet may be a factor in causing it.

Symptoms Varied

The symptoms of multiple sclerosis vary to a great extent, depending on what parts of the nervous system are affected. There may be mental symptoms in a few cases. Disturbances of the eyesight are present in about one out of six instances, as the earliest symptoms to occur.

Later on, eye troubles develop in about one-half of the patients. There may be numbness and tingling of the face or paralysis of some of the face muscles. Ringing in the ears is a common symptom. Paralysis of the tongue is also a frequent symptom. As a general rule, it is not difficult to make a diagnosis by a careful examination of the nervous system.

It is unfortunate that no treatment has been found for multiple sclerosis which is particularly successful. Preparations of arsenic are frequently used. It is suggested that a diet high in fats be employed. Vitamin preparations are also given, but do not seem to have a great deal of value except in temporarily relieving some of the symptoms.

According to Dr. Nielsen, one of the latest forms of treatment is to give a substance known as histamine diphenylphosphate by injection into a vein. The preparation is dissolved in salt solution which is slowly injected over a period of two hours.

Bad reactions to this treatment occur but rarely. Sometimes injections of whole blood into a vein are of value, but much more research is needed to give the best answer in treatment of this disorder. Perhaps its increasing frequency will act as a spur to the gaining of knowledge needed for its final conquest.

SYNOPSIS

Mary Patten, attractive widow and successful business executive, was stunned when an anonymous letter disclosed that her younger daughter Charlie and one Trent Renner had been secretly married the week before. Charlie, whose wealthy fiancé, Ollie Kingdom, was out of town, could not find courage to tell her mother about Trent, small salary reporter for the Stanton Star. However, she did confide in her sister Flo, whose marriage to kindly Doug Cooley, successful lawyer, had been the social event of the season a few years before. Flo bitterly discloses she had married Doug only because she couldn't bear to face poverty with the man she really loved. She promises to give a dinner party to announce the marriage and Trent is happy to know that Charlie will soon be sharing his small room at Mrs. Riggs' boarding house. Mary Patten carefully conceals the anonymous letter from Nell Winslow, popular author, who calls to collect data for her forthcoming novel which is to be based on Mary Patten's life. Later, confronted with the letter, Charlie joyously tells her mother about Trent but mistakes Mrs. Patten's calculated lack of reproach for forgiveness and understanding. She promises that Trent will be at her mother's office the following day. The next morning Charlie drops in at Flo's.

CHAPTER EIGHT

"MOTHER SEEMS just a bit too forgiving," commented Flo, choosing a flower and sticking it carefully into the bowl. "They're lovely," said Charlie, wanting suddenly to talk of something else.

"Cole Giddings sent them to me." There was a faint defiance in Flo's voice.

"Does Doug like that?" Flo shrugged her shoulders.

"Doug? He doesn't notice them! And even if he did—" She let the flowers drop from her hands to the table; some fell to the floor, but she left them there. "What are you and Trent going to do now?"

"Why—" The color deepened on Charlie's face. "Live together. Where Trent lives. Down on Peach Place."

"She saw Flo's astonishment and she added, 'It's sweet—there's a strip of park and big old trees and the houses are big and old.'"

"Simply idyllic! Milk bottles on the window sills, gas plates—nice if you like it."

Charlie said quickly, "I'll just be for a while . . . until we find some other apartment." The glow left her face. She had come expecting to enjoy the intimacy with Flo which she had felt yesterday, to tell her little things about Trent, but she couldn't with that cool smile on Flo's lips. She looked down at the watch on her wrist. "I just ran in."

Flo did not urge her to stay. "What about the dinner party? Saturday night?" But she showed no eagerness, now.

"Saturday'll be all right. If you still want to give it."

"Oh, it'll be rather—fun!" Charlie walked fast as she left the house. She felt as Flo so often had made her feel, even when they were children: "As if I were simple!"

Trent was waiting for her outside of Lorenzo's.

"Mrs. Renner, I believe!" His hands took hers, his eyes possessed her. She breathed, "Oh, Trent!" And everything but the fact that they were together vanished from her mind.

"Hello, Brisco," to the old waiter who always came to them. He took their order, went off to the kitchen.

"Trent, Mother knows!"

"Good work! It couldn't be a week, then. Tomorrow?" He spoke matter-of-factly, but his look on her set Charlie's pulses racing. "I broached it to Riggs this morning."

"She wasn't very keen, but she'll not want to lose me."

"Trent!" Charlie had a sudden in-explainable feeling of wanting to hold back. "Trent, not tomorrow—until we've talked to Mother."

Trent looked at her, his brows pulling together. "Why not? She knows we're married; she'll expect we'll live together, won't she?"

"Of course. And we'll decide what we're to do." She spoke quickly, as much to assure an un-easiness in herself as Trent. "It's just that it would seem kinder to . . . to talk it over with her."

That's all I'm suggesting. She was sweet last night. And she must have felt hurt—"

"Well, then, you tell her we're going to live there on Peach Place."

His face cleared, but Charlie's clouded. She remembered Flo's comment on Peach Place; her mother might say something like that. She wanted to talk of something else. "Trent, my sister's going to give a dinner for us. This Saturday evening. To—to announce our marriage!"

"Great Gosh!"

She laughed. His dismay was less alarming than his frown when she was asking him to take her mother into their confidence.

"Trent, don't tell me you're antisocial!"

"Not a bit. I like people. But I don't like 'em in crowds, like Steve Alfieri got together that day."

"You found me there, Trent?"

His eyes on her, darkened. "Yes, I saw you across the room and I fell in love with you. And I love you more with each hour I live."

"Trent, that's sweet! But . . . not so loud!"

For Brisco, hovering near by, was smiling.

Trent motioned to him. "Brisco, is there anything against telling your wife you love her in a public place?"

Brisco blinked. "Your wife, sir? Don't know that there is, sir. Congratulations, sir."

FOREIGN SERVICE

THE United States foreign service will have a general overhauling if a bill now before the House foreign affairs committee is passed by Congress.

The bill provides for the raising of salaries for ambassadors and ministers for the first time in 90 years. Expenses which accompany the high positions are so great that for years a man without a private source of income has not been able to afford to represent the United States at one of the more important diplomatic posts—a situation hardly consistent with democracy. In contrast, the British ambassador in Washington at present receives more than twice the amount paid the American ambassador in London.

Also included in the bill are provisions for salary raises for foreign service officers all down the line, a new promotion and retirement system intended to make it possible for men to advance faster on merit, and more frequent leaves and assignments in this country to keep the corps in closer touch with United States policies. An institute would be established for intensive training.

This bill is worthy of study and general approval. At a time when the country's foreign service has more difficult tasks and greater responsibilities than ever before, it is important that the service be organized to function as effectively as possible.

Never was the country better prepared for a "butter revolt." Everybody's forgotten what the stuff tastes like, anyhow.

These four foreign ministers must need a recess, before they have to start all over at the Peace Conference.

One of these days, if people live long enough, the streets will again blossom with signs reading "For Rent."

Hollywood Film Shop ...By Patricia Clary

HOLLYWOOD — The canine first lady of Hollywood is 14 years old, practically deaf and sleeps in a basket.

Her name is Tibbie, and she's Bette Davis' Scotty dog.

Tibbie has the run of the Warner Bros. lot, and is the only dog who gets in the Green Room. (That's the studio cafe for stars and executives.)

"That's because Tibbie is a lady," Miss Davis says. No one ever contradicts her.

Tibbie's closest rival for queen of the lot is Duchess, a tired old shepherd owned by Ida Lupino. Tibbie has more seniority, though, and rather than challenge her, Duchess usually stays home.

Then there are Pupchen and Tommy, Joan Crawford's dachshund and poodle, respectively. But they are comparative newcomers at Warners.

Errol Flynn's schnauzer, Arno, used to be Tibbie's king consort. Then he was drowned. Flynn's new schnauzer hasn't crashed society yet.

Tibbie, who has been around the sound stages with her mistress nearly all of her 14 years, is not at all impressed by movies.

She seldom waddles on to the stage, but stays curled up in her basket in Miss Davis' dressing room or in her own canvas-back chair.

"She doesn't hear as well as she used to," Miss Davis said. "Sometimes now when we take her to lunch, she goes to sleep under the table and is dead to the world when we call her."

When she wakes up, though, she toddles out to the stage where Bette is working. She always finds her.

"We made the poor old thing awfully unhappy the other day," Miss Davis confessed. "We got a new dog, a cocker spaniel named Sooty, and then we got a boxer, named Scotty. Poor Tibbie thought we were giving her up, and you've never seen such an obedient dog as she was—for a while."

Then Tibbie discovered that she, and she alone, was going to that studio with Miss Davis, and that she had the run of the house while the newcomers stayed out in the backyard.

"She's her old self now," Miss Davis laughed.

Milo Anderson, who counts nearly every top star in Hollywood among the 1,000 women he has dressed, believes it's not what you put into a dress that makes it chic. It's what you leave off.

Simplicity in style, he has learned, is what makes a star's clothes look as good when a picture is released as they did when it was filmed two years earlier.

Constance Bennett first taught him that rule, he said, some 15 years ago when he was starting out as one of the youngest designers in the movie business.

"She was looking over one of my creations and called it 'just lusty with frills,'" he recalled.

"She told me that style was in the basic dress, not in the gees-gaws."

Outside of that, Anderson has no theories about his work.

"I design by instinct," he said. "I never considered myself a genius about it, never spent nights studying costume plates. I didn't even finish high school. I just work hard."

His hard work has produced movie creations that millions of American women have copied. He made a sweater girl of Lana Turner in "They Won't Forget"; he put the first coulotte on Bette Davis in "The Petrified Forest"; he gave the wimple hat back to the world in "Robin Hood," with Olivia de Havilland.

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, July 22—The final defense of Mihailovitch, the hero of the Chetniks, was little reported in this country. American popular interest in him waned when he was reported to have "admitted acts of collaboration" with the enemy during the war. Of such a character is our acute sense of justice. But in this case it has been successfully abused—and misled.

Mihailovitch spoke for four hours from notes he had made for 30 days, ending his speech at midnight, with this final accounting from an anti-Nazi resistance soldier:

"I had against me a competitive organization, the Communist party which seeks its aims without compromise. I was faced with changes in my own government and accused of connections with every possible secret service, enemy and allied. I believed I was on the right road and called on any foreign journalist or red army mission to visit me and see everything. But fate was merciless to me when it threw me into this maelstrom (between the western democracies and Russia). I wanted much. I started much, but the gale of the world carried me away from my work."

This is a Serbian soldier of resistance, far from the early time when he and the British alone were resisting the Nazis but Russia was not, speaking after clever Communist torture in a mockery of trials which could find a counterpart only in the Moscow treason trials for Russian propaganda purposes. That's all I'm suggesting. She was sweet last night. And she must have felt that—"

"Well, then, you tell her we're going to live there on Peach Place."

His face cleared, but Charlie's clouded. She remembered Flo's comment on Peach Place; her mother might say something like that. She wanted to talk of something else. "Trent, my sister's going to give a dinner for us. This Saturday evening. To—"

To announce our marriage!"

"Great Gosh!" She laughed. His dismay was less alarming than his frown when she was asking him to take her mother into their confidence.

"Trent, don't tell me you're antisocial!"

"Not a bit. I like people. But I don't like 'em in crowds, like Steve Allfree got together that day."

"You found me there, Trent?" His eyes on her, darkened. "Yes. I saw you across the room and I fell in love with you. And I love you more with each hour I live."

"Trent, that's sweet! But . . . not so loud!"

For Brisco, hovering near by, was smiling.

Trent motioned to him. "Brisco, is there anything against telling your wife you love her in a public place?"

Brisco blinked. "Your wife, sir? Don't know that there is, sir. Congratulations, sir."

leaving her in ignorance whether the date holds or not. Two or three weeks in advance is time enough to give an invitation for a big date, and then mention it occasionally before the occasion is due.

Today's Horoscope
You have a happy and even disposition and you should marry young, preferably one with an emotional complement to your temperament. You are versatile and resourceful and have a keen, penetrating mind. You are friendly, appreciate the good in others, and are fair, gracious and generous in every way. It will be difficult to reach agreements in this cycle, although friendship, love and creative efforts should find glittering expressions at this time. Respond with courtesy if you are asked a favor, and your graciousness will be rewarded. Evening rays augur little good can come from conversation, so see a movie or read.

When West led the diamond K and the dummy went down, South could count only nine absolutely sure tricks—two in spades, four in hearts, one in diamonds and two in clubs. Yet he made a grand slam by virtue of gaudy breaks.

The first luck was that East was squeezed on the opening trick. Then came the club K, heart A, club A, J, 10 and 7. On the 7 East was squeezed again. To hold his hearts, he discarded the spade 10. Then followed the heart K, Q and J, the spade A and K and finally the spade 9, which had been established by the second squeeze.

Notice that any discard by East on the first trick would have set up a trick for South, after which the latter could later have squeezed East again with the suit on which he made his first discard.

Marriage Performed In St. Joseph's Rectory Here

Miss Ruth Frances Morris, daughter of Charles E. Morris, Sr., Saltcreek township, became the bride of George Frederick Macklin, son of Mrs. Orlando Delong, Laurelville, and the late Daniel Clifton Macklin, Saturday at 10:30 a. m. in the St. Joseph's rectory. The Rev. Father Edward J. Reidy performed the ceremony.

For her wedding the bride chose a beige lace trimmed dress with a small brown hat and a shoulder corsage. Her only jewelry was a watch, a gift of the bridegroom.

Miss Frances Spire, Lancaster, niece of the bride served as maid-of-honor. She wore a dress of blue faille with a hat to match.

Charles E. Morris, Jr., Saltcreek township, brother of the bride, served as best man for Mr. Macklin.

Miss Anne Macklin played the wedding music.

Following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served to the immediate members of the family of the bride and groom and Mrs. James Flynn, Washington C. H., aunt of the bride, at the home of the bride's father. The east porch of the old rambling farm house was gayly decorated with Summer flowers for the occasion. Colorful floral designs centered the table.

Mrs. Delong, mother of the bride groom, was attired in a rose colored crepe dress.

The new Mr. and Mrs. Macklin left for a wedding trip over the Skyline drive to Williamsburg, Virginia. For traveling the bride changed to a green sheer dress topped with a pink short coat with brown and white accessories.

The new Mrs. Macklin is a graduate of Office Training school, Columbus.

Mr. Macklin was graduated from Ohio State University, Columbus, where he is now enrolled as a law student. He served three years in the North African and European theaters with the 1st and 3rd Infantry divisions and returned to this country in September of '45 as a field artillery captain.

When they return from their wedding trip the newly weds will make their home with the bride's father.

Scioto Grange Has Shower At Meeting

Scioto grange members held a miscellaneous shower for Mr. and Mrs. John W. Hennick at their last meeting. Arrangements for the occasion were handled by Mrs. Ben Grace, Mrs. William Green and Mrs. Sidney Neal.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Jessie Hill, Mrs. Agnes Hill, Miss Doris Hill, and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Willbarger.

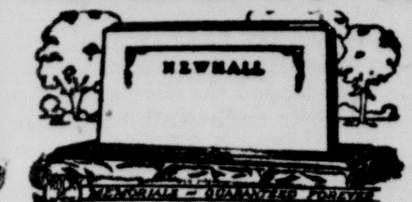

During a short business session a committee was appointed to decorate a float for the Scioto township homecoming to be held August 2 and 3 at Commercial Point.

At the next meeting to be held August 7 a health program will be given with the home economics committee in charge.

MEETING POSTPONED

Mt. Pleasant grange meeting which was scheduled for Wednesday has been postponed until August 14.

NELLIE BROWN IS BRIDE OF WILLIAM HAHN

Lighted cathedral candles on the altar of the St. Joseph's church, Sugar Grove, accented the colorful beauty of garden flowers used in the decorations at the marriage of Miss Nellie Rosina Brown, Lancaster, and William J. Hahn, Columbus, which took place Thursday.

The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Richard C. Cornelly.

Miss Thresa Hahn, Washington, D. C., was the maid-of-honor and Miss Esther Hensel, Basil, served as the bridesmaid.

Jacob Hahn acted as best man for his brother and Nick Hahn and George Geiger acted as guests.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white silk marquisette over tafetta which was simply fashioned with a high neckline and bracelet length sleeves set off by a full skirt which terminated in a brief train. Her finger tip veil of sheer illusion was caught with orange blossoms and her only jewelry was a string of pearls, a gift of the bridegroom.

The maid-of-honor wore a pink dress and carried deep rose shasta daisies with matching half wreath of flowers in her hair.

Miss Hensel's dress was of peach net and she carried a bouquet of blue shasta daisies.

Mr. and Mrs. Brown entertained with a wedding breakfast following the ceremony.

When the new Mr. and Mrs. Hahn left for a motor trip to the New England states the bride was wearing a powder blue linen suit with black and white accessories.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Brown, Lancaster, formerly of near Williamsport.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William F. Hahn, near Rockbridge.

Mr. Hahn is now associated with the J. Foster Cromley Sales Service, Columbus, as auto parts manager.

The new Mr. and Mrs. Hahn will make their home in Columbus.

Mrs. Rattray Is Honored At Shower In Mallory Home

Complimenting Mrs. Richard Rattray, the former Helen Bowman, Mrs. Robert Mallory entertained with a miscellaneous shower Friday evening at her home in Duvall.

A color scheme of pink, white and blue was carried out by twisted crepe paper streamers leading from the chandelier and fastened at the corner of the table laden with attractively wrapped gifts. A sprinkling can was hung in the center of the decorations.

A fish pond was constructed which contained kitchen utensils gifts of the hostess. The honor guest donned a straw hat and grasped a fishing pole to obtain these gifts.

Games and contests were the diversion of the evening. Prizes were awarded to Mrs. Rattray and Mrs. Maynard Marion.

Refreshments were served buffet style to the guests who included Mrs. M. M. Bowman, Stoughton; Mrs. Turney Kraft, Mrs. Creighton Kraft, Miss Alma Glick, Miss Dorothy Glick, Mrs. Floy Brobst, Mrs. Walter Richards, Miss Hulda Leist, Mrs. Nettie McCord, Mrs. Forrest Croman, Mrs. Sterley Croman, Betty Jane Croman, and Mrs. Russell Palm, Circleville and vicinity; Mrs. Maynard Marion, Ashville; Mrs. J. H. Brooks, Lockbourne; Mrs. Loring List, Greencastle, Mrs. Mallory was assisted by Mrs. Marion and Mrs. List.

At the next meeting to be held August 7 a health program will be given with the home economics committee in charge.

TRIBE RETAINS AA LEAD; BIRDS GAMES RAINED OUT

Indianapolis clung to the American Association lead today while its crucial series with the second-place St. Paul Saints continued on the Indians' home field.

St. Paul staged a three-run 10th inning rally to win the first game of a doubleheader yesterday, 8 to 5. But Indianapolis took the second, 12 to 8, pushing the Saints one full game behind.

Kansas City divided a double bill at Toledo, the Mud Hens winning the first, 4 to 3, and Kansas City the second, 7 to 3. Louisville edged out Minneapolis, 3 to 2. Wet grounds forced cancellation of the other half of the Colonels-Millers scheduled twin bill.

"Two games between Milwaukee and Columbus at Columbus were postponed because of rain."

CUBS SET RECORD

NEW YORK, July 22—Another all-time attendance record went into the major league books today, the Chicago Cubs establishing it with a playing crowd of 46,377 for their Sunday double header with the Philadelphia Phillies. That was the largest crowd ever to attend a game at Wrigley Field, which has a seating capacity of 38,396. Led by that gathering, the National League outdrew the American yesterday. A total of 104,330 attended the four double headers in the senior circuit while 98,430 were on hand for games in the American.

NELSON WANTS TO QUIT 'GRIND' AS CHAMPION

CHICAGO, July 22—Byron Nelson, who is planning to depart from the full-time tournament schedule he has followed for the past decade, warned his links rivals today that he intends to bow out triumphantly.

The affable Texan who has won all the nation's major tournaments, successfully defended his championship in the $10,000 victory open at the Medinah Country Club here yesterday by firing a double round of 69-68 for a 72-hole aggregate of 279 strokes.

Nelson will play in the $50,000 All-American tournament at the Tam O'Shanter club here this week and then in the P. G. A. championship at Portland, Ore., Aug. 19-26. After that he's heading for his native Texas to become a gentleman rancher and according to present plans the golf circuit will not see him again until the Masters at Augusta next March. Nelson definitely will not make the long Winter tour on which he has been a top-ranked star for the 10 years.

"I'm bowing out of year around play," he said after his triumph yesterday. "I'll play every year in the Masters and in a select list of other tournaments. I do not intend to play more than about four or five months out of each year, however. My business affiliations require part of that play, but the rest of the year I'll devote to managing the 630 acre ranch I've bought."

Nelson wants to leave the ranks as "Mr. Big" however. He is defending titlist in both the All-American and the P. G. A.

Nelson won $2,000 by his triumph in the Victory to boost his year's winnings to $20,136, a figure surpassed only by Ben Hogan of Hershey, Pa., who has won $25,614.

NEWS Behind the NEWS

By PAUL MALLON

This is the same Tito government which later informed our state department the crimes of Mihailovitch, before the trial, had been judged to be "too great and terrible for any discussion"—or for American testimony. Its foreign minister had announced before the trial (May 11): "Mihailovitch will be shot."

The Russians took no chances on it. The three members of the "court" were officers from the Tito army, and members of the Communist party. The spectators hissed and booed statements, such as the truthful assertion of a defense attorney that the law under which the men were being tried was made up by the Communist government after the supposed "crimes" were committed. The verdict of death for Mihailovitch was cheered.

To call this propaganda farce by the name of trial is an accusation against justice. Mihailovitch fought largely under the supervision of the British mission against Nazis—but he did not fight for the Russians. This was his real crime. He fought for British and Americans as well as his Serbs, but he did not fight for the Russians.

The whole situation in the Communist-ridden Balkans has been asserted by a Christian Science Monitor correspondent who was expelled, Reuben Markham, being accused privately by the Russians with collaboration against them because of his reports. He said:

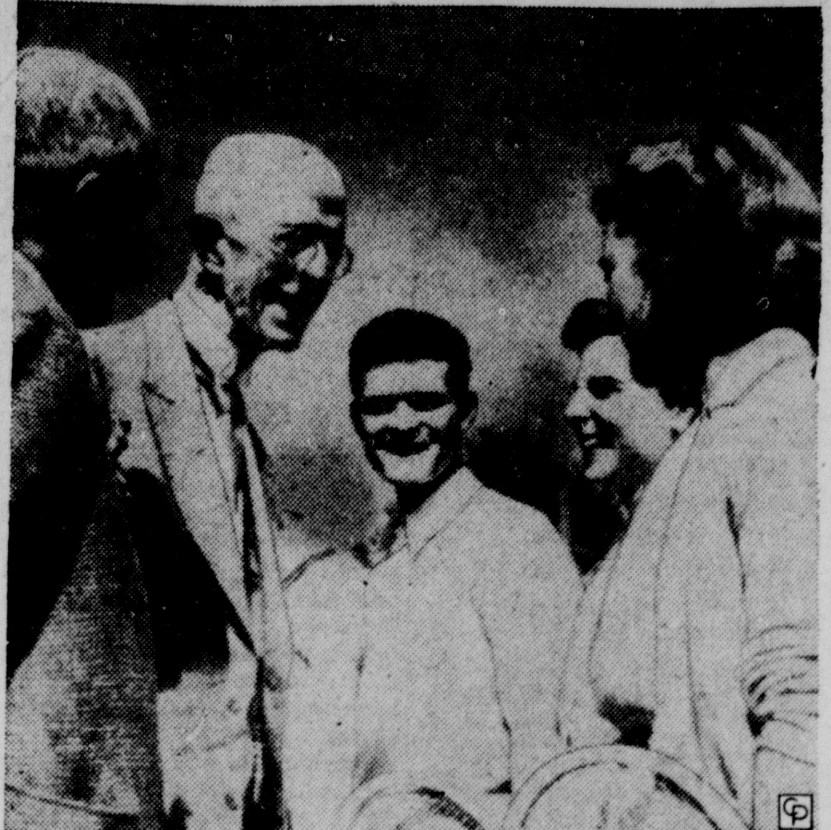

"The worst that any tyrant ever did in the way of violence, terror, suppression or freedom is being matched by the Communist dominated governments of Bulgaria and Rumania. Russian-imposed dictatorial methods include concentration camps and legal massacre of opponents. The courts are a travesty of justice and people are killed by the thousands. . . an extremely unpopular regime is determined thus to compel an unwilling nation to vote for it." This is the condition of all the Balkans, Rumania and Bulgaria now being involved in peace treaties which the twenty-one nations are to ratify and thus pledge world approval and perpetual help through UN to enforce by arms.

Mihailovitch was not "tried" in Belgrade. The CP tried him when it captured him in March, and staged the Belgrade show to scare the people and strengthen the CP regime, as it did in Moscow before the war.

What was tried in Belgrade was Russia and Communism. In evidence, were her methods and techniques, her foolish attempt to ape Anglo-Saxon justice with a staged "trial", her inferiority complex taking refuge in barbarism, in which it framed the whole bench and broke the mind of a fifty-nine year old Serbian general to create an Anglo-Saxon excuse for a Russian propaganda death.

Opinions expressed by the writer in this column are the views of the author and not necessarily those of the Cincinnati Herald.

HEADS OF ALL COLLEGE LOOPS ATTEND MEETING

CHICAGO, July 22—Leaders of all major collegiate athletic conferences met a two day session here today for a discussion of "amateurism in intercollegiate athletics."

Delegates to the session called by Kenneth L. Wilson, commissioner of the Western Conference are: J. F. McKale of the University of Arizona, representing the Border conference; the Rev. John J. Cavanaugh of Notre Dame and the Central Collegiate; Dr. E. Leroy Mercer of Pennsylvania, the Middle Atlantic; and Asa S. Bushnell, commissioner of the Eastern conference.

William Bingham, Harvard, and Prof. William Marchant, Cornell, the Ivy League; C. Ward Macy, Coe college, the Mid-West; Reaves Peters, commissioner of the Big Six and A. J. Lewandowski of Nebraska; and Commissioner A. E. Eiler, the Rev. F. J. O'Hern of St. Louis and Prof. W. E. Morris, Jr., Tulsa representing the Missouri Valley.

Prof. P. A. Christensen, Brigham Young, and Harry Carlson, Colorado, for the Mountain states; T. J. Davies, Colorado College, for the Rocky Mountain; Mike S. Connors, commissioner of the Southeastern; Col. William Couper of Virginia Military Institute and Wallace Wade of Duke, for the Southern; and James Stewart and Dana X. Bible of Texas, for the Southwestern.

Wilson, Prof. Frank Richard of Illinois and H. O. (Fritz) Crisler of Michigan for the Western; Dean R. V. Smith of Capital and W. J. Livingston of Denison for the Ohio, and Commissioner Victor Schmidt and W. O. Hunter of Southern California for the Pacific Coast conference.

Eligibility, subsidization and recruiting are three principal problems to be discussed.

ADDS MORE TITLES

NEENAH, Wis., July 22—Billy Talbert, Wilmington, Del., added two more 1946 tennis titles to his collection today. Talbert routed a foreign challenger — Cesar Carmona, No. 1 player of the Philippines—in straight sets 6-3, 6-2, to retain his western hard courts championship yesterday. Then, with Bob Falkenburg, Los Angeles, he defeated two other Los Angeles players—Sam Match and Robert Perez, 6-2, 6-2, to win the doubles title.

TED WILLIAMS, STAN MUSIAL IN LEADING ROLES

Red Sox, Cards, Dodgers Win Doubleheaders; Reds Split With Giants

NEW YORK, July 22—Baseball's most valuable player award won't be handed out until long after the World Series, but Ted Williams of the Red Sox and Stan Musial of the Cardinals were doing all they could today to make the final announcement a mere formality.

Yesterday was a typical day for both as they led their teams to double triumphs. Thumpin' Ted, getting seven successive hits in Boston's 5 to 0 and 7 to 4 victories over the Browns, boosted his batting average 12 points to .365, taking over the American League lead again. Slamm'n' Stan made five hits in eight times to pace the Cardinals to 2 to 1 and 8 to 4 victories over the Braves at St. Louis.

In Boston's opening victory, Williams hit two singles and a double, going out only in his first time up, to give Dave Ferriss key hitting support in achieving his fifth shut-out and his 15th win against four losses. He really opened up in the second game, hitting a homer, triple, double and single. He now is major league leader in homers with 27, runs batted in with 90, and runs scored with 94. He leads the American in hits with 113. Dom DiMaggio also hit a Boston homer and Walt Judnich delivered one for St. Louis.

Musial's first game home run with a man on base gave Howie Pollet the two runs he needed for a four hit victory, his 11th of the year. The slender young swatter from Donora, Pa., who won the player award with the 1943 Cards, raised his average six points to .369, second in the National. He now leads the majors in hits with 130, and the National in doubles with 27, triples with 10, and runs scored with 71. He is third in runs batted in with 67. Another Cardinal lefty, Harry Brecheen, won the second game, scattering 10 hits while Musial with three led a 12-hit Red Bird attack on six Boston flingers. Erv Dusak hit a three-run Cardinal homer.

Brooklyn stayed exactly even with the Cards in the first place deadlock by topping the Pirates, 3 to 0 and 6 to 5 at Pittsburgh. Vic Lombardi became the first Dodger pitcher to win 10 games pitching his first big league shutout and holding the Bucs to three hits. He also drove in two runs, one with a squeeze bunt, the other with a single. Carl Furillo's two run ninth inning homer sealed the Dodgers' second game since Pittsburgh put over three tallies in the home half to finish one short of a tie.

The third place Cubs dropped five games behind by splitting with the Phils at Chicago. Hank Borowy, going the distance for the second time in 15 starts, pitched a 3 to 0 eight-hit shutout, but the Phils won the second game, 4 to 2 behind Ken Raffensberger's cool pitching. Rookie Del Ennis hit a two run homer to give him the victory after delivering four singles in the first game.

Rookie Ewell Blackwell pitched his third shutout, beating the Giants 5 to 0 at Cincinnati on five singles. The Giants then ended a seven game losing streak, Giant Johnny Gee pitching a 2 to 1 game for his first victory after a late start due to arm trouble. Willie Marshall and Ben Warren scored the only Giant runs with homers. Eddie Luken hit a first game Cincinnati homer.

The Yankees lost ground in their virtually hopeless task of chasing the Red Sox and now trail by 1 1/2 games after dividing with Chicago. They topped the White Sox, 3 to 2 for their sixth straight victory as Floyd Bevens pitched seven hit ball and won his game with a 10 run homer. Then the roof fell in and the White Sox put on an eight-run second inning rally to win the nightcap, 9 to 3, ending a six game losing streak. Joey Kuhel hit a three run homer in the big inning and added the final run with a homer in the ninth. Three Yankee pitchers were touched for seven singles, a walk and the homer in that wild inning.

Stan Spence led the Senators to 2 to 1 and 7 to 5 victories over the Indians at Washington. He drove in Gerry Priddy with a double to win the first game for Mickey Haefer who gained his eighth victory and in the second game tagged relief pitcher Bob Feller for a single to

CUBS SET RECORD

NEW YORK, July 22—Another all-time attendance record went into the major league books today, the Chicago Cubs establishing it with a playing crowd of 46,377 for their Sunday double header with the Philadelphia Phillies. That was the largest crowd ever to attend a game at Wrigley Field, which has a seating capacity of 38,396. Led by that gathering, the National League outdrew the American yesterday. A total of 104,330 attended the four double headers in the senior circuit while 98,430 were on hand for games in the American.

NELSON WANTS TO QUIT 'GRIND' AS CHAMPION

CHICAGO, July 22—Byron Nelson, who is planning to depart from the full-time tournament schedule he has followed for the past decade, warned his links rivals today that he intends to bow out triumphantly.

The affable Texan who has won all the nation's major tournaments, successfully defended his championship in the $10,000 victory open at the Medinah Country Club here yesterday by firing a double round of 69-68 for a 72-hole aggregate of 279 strokes.

Nelson will play in the $50,000 All-American tournament at the Tam O'Shanter club here this week and then in the P. G. A. championship at Portland, Ore., Aug. 19-26. After that he's heading for his native Texas to become a gentleman rancher and according to present plans the golf circuit will not see him again until the Masters at Augusta next March. Nelson definitely will not make the long winter tour on which he has been a top-ranked star for the 10 years.

"I'm bowing out of year around play," he said after his triumph yesterday. "I'll play every year in the Masters and in a select list of other tournaments. I do not intend to play more than about four or five months out of each year, however. My business affiliations require part of that play, but the rest of the year I'll devote to managing the 630 acre ranch I've bought."

Nelson wants to leave the ranks as "Mr. Big" however. He is defending titlist in both the All-American and the P. G. A.

Nelson won $2,000 by his triumph in the Victory to boost his year's winnings to $20,136, a figure surpassed only by Ben Hogan of Hershey, Pa., who has won $25,614.

NEWS Behind the NEWS

By PAUL MALLON

Mihailovitch.
This is the same Tito government which later informed our state department the crimes of Mihailovitch, before the trial, had been judged to be "too great and terrible for any discussion"—or for American testimony. Its foreign minister had announced before the trial (May 11): "Mihailovitch will be shot."

The Russians took no chances on it. The three members of the "court" were officers from the Tito army, and members of the Communist party. The spectators hissed and booed statements, such as the truthful assertion of a defense attorney that the law under which the men were being tried was made up by the Communist government after the supposed "crimes" were committed. The verdict of death for Mihailovitch was cheered.

To call this propaganda farce by the name of trial is an accusation against justice. Mihailovitch fought largely under the supervision of the British mission against the Nazis—but he did not fight for the Russians. This was his real crime. He fought for British and Americans as well as his Serbs, but he did not fight for the Russians.

The whole situation in the Communist-ridden Balkans has been asserted by a Christian Science Monitor correspondent who was expelled, Reuben Markham, being accused privately by the Russians with collaboration against them because of his reports. He said:

"The worst that any tyrant ever did in the way of violence, terror, suppression or freedom is being matched by the Communist dominated governments of Bulgaria and Rumania. Russian-imposed dictatorial methods include concentration camps and legal massacre of opponents. The courts are a travesty of justice and people are killed by the thousands. . . an extremely unpopular regime is determined thus to compel an unwilling nation to vote for it."

This is the condition of all the Balkans, Rumania and Bulgaria now being involved in peace treaties which the twenty-one nations are to ratify and thus pledge world approval, and perpetual help through UN to enforce by arms.

Mihailovitch was not "tried" in Belgrade. The CP tried him when it captured him in March, and staged the Belgrade show to scare the people and strengthen the CP regime, as it did in Moscow before the war.

What was tried in Belgrade was Russia and Communism. In evidence, were her methods and techniques, her foolish attempt to ape Anglo-Saxon justice with a staged "trial," her inferiority complex taking refuge in barbarism, in which it framed the whole bench and broke the mind of a fifty-nine year old Serbian general to create an Anglo-Saxon excuse for a Russian propaganda death.

HEADS OF ALL COLLEGE LOOPS ATTEND MEETING

CHICAGO, July 22—Leaders of all major collegiate athletic conferences opened a two day session here today for a discussion of "amateurism in intercollegiate athletics."

Delegates to the session called by Kenneth L. Wilson, commissioner of the Western Conference are: J. F. McKale of the University of Arizona, representing the Border conference; the Rev. John J. Cavanaugh of Notre Dame and the Central Collegiate; Dr. E. Leroy Mercer of Pennsylvania, the Middle Atlantic; and Asa S. Bushnell, commissioner of the Eastern conference.

William Bingham, Harvard, and Prof. William Marchant, Cornell, the Ivy league; C. Ward Macy, Coe college, the Mid-West; Reaves Peters, commissioner of the Big Six and A. J. Lewandowski of Nebraska; and Commissioner A. E. Eller, the Rev. F. J. O'Hern of St. Louis and Prof. W. E. Morris, Jr., Tulsa representing the Missouri Valley.

Prof. P. A. Christensen, Brigham Young, and Harry Carlson, Colorado, for the Mountain states; T. J. Davies, Colorado College, for the Rocky Mountain; Mike S. Conners, commissioner of the Southeastern; Col. William Couper of Virginia Military Institute and Wallace Wade of Duke, for the Southern; and James Stewart and Dana X. Bible of Texas, for the Southwestern.

Wilson, Prof. Frank Richart of Illinois and H. O. (Fritz) Crisler of Michigan for the Western; Dean R. V. Smith of Capital and W. J. Livingston of Denison for the Ohio, and Commissioner Victor Schmidt and W. O. Hunter of Southern California for the Pacific Coast conference.

Eligibility, subsidization and recruiting are three principal problems to be discussed.

ADDS MORE TITLES

NEENAH, Wis., July 22—Billy Talbert, Wilmington, Del., added two more 1946 tennis titles to his collection today. Talbert routed a foreign challenger — Cesar Carmona, No. 1 player of the Philippines—in straight sets 6-3, 6-2, to retain his western hard courts championship yesterday. Then, with Bob Falkenburg, Los Angeles, he defeated two other Los Angeles players—Sam Match and Robert Perez, 6-2, 6-2, to win the doubles title.

Junior Chamber Of Commerce To Stage Waste Paper Drive

CITY RESIDENTS URGED TO SAVE WASTE PAPER

City-Wide Collection Set For August 14; Profits To Finance Projects

Cooperation of Circleville householders in the one-day city-wide waste paper collection which is to be staged August 14 was urged Monday by officials of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, sponsor of the drive.

Jaycees officials said that the funds derived from the waste paper campaign will be used for the financing of several worthwhile projects backed by the Junior Chamber of Commerce as a community service to Circleville.

Residents have been asked to save and contribute to the waste paper drive all magazines and books, newspapers, corrugated and cardboard boxes and cartons, and all wastebasket papers such as envelopes, wrappers, etc. Household-ers are asked to tie the paper in neat bundles that can be picked up quickly by the collectors August 14.

In answer to the question as to why a waste paper pickup in the postwar period the Jaycees officials emphasized that waste paper is a vital reconversion material. It is a primary raw material in the production of most types of packaging, it is essential for the manufacture and shipping of thousands of commercial and industrial products, and the demand for waste paper is so great that normal trade channels are unable to supply enough to keep the mills running full time and to enable them to meet production requirements.

It was said that the demand for waste paper by the mills is a constant demand and one that will be maintained for an indefinite period of time. While there is an abundance of waste paper in the homes, in the stores, and in the factories, much of it never reaches the mills.

PUBLIC INVITED TO MEETING TO FORM SOCIETY

All residents of Circleville and Pickaway county who are interested in prevention of cruelty to either children or animals have been invited to attend a meeting scheduled for 8:30 p. m. Friday in the Common Pleas courtroom in the Courthouse at Circleville.

The meeting, expected to be attended by representatives of most of the civic and fraternal groups in the community, will be under auspices of the Circleville Junior Chamber of Commerce. It is expected that plans will be perfected for the formation of a new organization to be known as the Circleville and Pickaway County Humane Society.

Arrangements for the gathering are in charge of a special committee of the Junior Chamber composed of Fred Grant, chairman, Ralph Amey, Gerald Miller, Frank Wantz and George Mallet. The committee was named by John P. Moore, president of the Junior Chamber.

Thomas Justus, head of the Franklin County Humane Society at Columbus will present a motion picture depicting the work of Humane Societies. Several other humanitarians from nearby cities will attend the Circleville meeting.

MORE FARMERS GET SOIL PLANS

Four-Year Rotations in Use
On Several Pickaway
County Farms

Clarence and Robert Hall, Daniel Boone, Lowell White and Kenneth W. Dean in Madison township; L. B. Morehead in Scioto township; Orin Bircher, Chester McCloud and C. W. Alexander in Jackson township and Dewey C. Black, the Schumm estate and R. C. Palm in Washington township are new registrants for soil improvement plans in the Pickaway Soil Conservation district.

These farms are to be so planned that four-year rotations of corn, small grain followed by two years of soil building legume-grass meadows shall replace the three-year rotations usually now used but recently recognized as being inadequate to increase the fertility and water-holding capacity of the soil.

A recent survey of crop conditions over Pickaway county, states Soil Conservationist J. A. Muster, shows that corn growing on soils containing good contents of organic matter, is not suffering from the recent brief drought but corn growing on hard, humus-depleted soils is curling and showing the inability of those soils to hold in storage the moisture that is supporting the corn on the better managed soils.

farmers and those in other soil conservation counties indicate that the humus and fertility problems are going to be solved in a practical and profitable manner, Mr. Muster stated.

Applications for the Fall better farming campaign should be filed now so the work may get under way soon after the grain and hay harvest is finished, states Muster.

Carrier Boy Believes He Will Get His $5 Back

A staunch believer in honesty and possessing an abiding faith in the Golden Rule, a 14-year-old carrier boy for The Daily Herald was unshaken Monday in his belief that the person who found the $5 he lost will return the money to him.

Even though the finder might have some inclination to keep the cash, the young loser said he knew that when the finder learns how hard the carrier boy worked for that money and how badly he needs it the finder is sure to bring it to The Daily Herald office.

The carrier boy—who soon will be 15 years old—is pretty much of a "he-man" but he did have a tough job holding back the tears when he walked into the newspaper office, Saturday, and told how he had lost the little brown purse containing the five $1 bills. The youngster worked hard—delivering The Daily Herald to Circleville homes in all kinds of weather—and had denied himself candy and ice cream and bottles of pop, although other boys did not, in order to save the $5 to enable him to buy some clothing he needs.

When he left home Saturday morning his mother gave him the purse containing the $5 and she cautioned him not to lose it while he did some collecting on his newspaper route before going to the store to buy the clothing items.

The lad said he knows that he had the little brown purse in his pocket when he made collections near the plant of the Esmeralda Canning Company. Shortly afterward it had disappeared from his pocket. He returned to that neighborhood and made a search but was unable to find it.

It was a severe loss to the 14-year-old newspaper carrier but he didn't cry much. He said he knew that crying was useless.

If the person who found the boy's $5 will return it to the office of The Daily Herald it will make a young business man extremely happy—and it will confirm his implicit faith in the honesty of his fellow humans.

Junior Chamber Of Commerce To Stage Waste Paper Drive

CITY RESIDENTS URGED TO SAVE WASTE PAPER

City-Wide Collection Set For August 14; Profits To Finance Projects

Cooperation of Circleville house-holders in the one-day city-wide waste paper collection which is to be staged August 14 was urged Monday by officials of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, sponsor of the drive.

Jaycees officials said that the funds derived from the waste paper campaign will be used for the financing of several worthwhile projects backed by the Junior Chamber of Commerce as a community service to Circleville.

Residents have been asked to save and contribute to the waste paper drive all magazines and books, newspapers, corrugated and cardboard boxes and cartons, and all wastebasket papers such as envelopes, wrappers, etc. Householders are asked to tie the paper in neat bundles that can be picked up quickly by the collectors August 14.

In answer to the question as to why a waste paper pickup in the postwar period the Jaycees officials emphasized that waste paper is a vital reconversion material. It is a primary raw material in the production of most types of packaging, it is essential for the manufacture and shipping of thousands of commercial and industrial products, and the demand for waste paper is so great that normal trade channels are unable to supply enough to keep the mills running full time and to enable them to meet production requirements.

It was said that the demand for waste paper by the mills is a constant demand and one that will be maintained for an indefinite period of time. While there is an abundance of waste paper in the homes, in the stores, and in the factories, much of it never reaches the mills.

PUBLIC INVITED TO MEETING TO FORM SOCIETY

All residents of Circleville and Pickaway county who are interested in prevention of cruelty to either children or animals have been invited to attend a meeting scheduled for 8:30 p. m. Friday in the Common Pleas courtroom in the Courthouse at Circleville.

The meeting, expected to be attended by representatives of most of the civic and fraternal groups in the community, will be under auspices of the Circleville Junior Chamber of Commerce. It is expected that plans will be perfected for the formation of a new organization to be known as the Circleville and Pickaway County Humane Society.

Arrangements for the gathering are in charge of a special committee of the Junior Chamber composed of Fred Grant, chairman, Ralph Amey, Gerald Miller, Frank Wantz and George Mallet. The committee was named by John P. Moore, president of the Junior Chamber.

Thomas Justus, head of the Franklin County Humane Society at Columbus will present a motion picture depicting the work of Humane Societies. Several other humanitarians from nearby cities will attend the Circleville meeting.

MORE FARMERS GET SOIL PLANS

Four-Year Rotations in Use On Several Pickaway County Farms

Clarence and Robert Hall, Daniel Boone, Lowell White and Kenneth W. Dean in Madison township; L. B. Morehead in Scioto township; Orin Bircher, Chester McCloud and C. W. Alexander in Jackson township and Dewey C. Black, the Schumm estate and R. C. Palm in Washington township are new registrants for soil improvement plans in the Pickaway Soil Conservation district.

These farms are to be so planned that four-year rotations of corn, small grain followed by two years of soil building legume-grass meadows shall replace the three-year rotations usually now used but recently recognized as being inadequate to increase the fertility and water-holding capacity of the soil.

A recent survey of crop conditions over Pickaway county, states Soil Conservationist J. A. Muster, shows that corn growing on soils containing good contents of organic matter, is not suffering from the recent brief drought but corn growing on hard, humus-depleted soils is curling and showing the inability of those soils to hold in storage the moisture that is supporting the corn on the better managed soils.

farmers and those in other soil conservation counties indicate that the humus and fertility problems are going to be solved in a practical and profitable manner, Mr. Muster stated.

Applications for the Fall better farming campaign should be filed now so the work may get under way soon after the grain and hay harvest is finished, states Muster.
